Dear Redeemed and Loved Saints of Grace!

January is a weird month.

Do you reflect on the year that was or the year that is to come? Two very different and yet very difficult questions to answer. Both will cause you to dive into different reflections, but that isn't why January is a weird month.

What makes January a weird month, is we have gone through two months of light; think about it. Beginning sometime in the middle of November, unless you put up Halloween lights, all the streets are lit up by lights. Until January, then lights get put away. Darkness again covers the streets, our homes, and the cities. The only remnant of light is the stray car that passes through the alley.

January is a weird month. As darkness begins to refill the earth, it reminds me that we were once people who sat in darkness. We indeed used to be in darkness. We may not remember those times or maybe we do. When we literally felt trapped in the darkness around us. Hope feels lost. Maybe this is why January feels like a weird month.

Almost like it is preparing us for the season of lent. A season when we face the darkness we once felt. The season when hope is lost. Lent is a weird season. We are just coming out of Christmas. The light of the world is shining and has brought great hope. Then in just a few weeks, we will gather for Ash Wednesday. And thus, we are reminded of the darkness of sin that surrounds us. The crushing weight trapping us in despair.

January is a weird month. The lingering darkness begins to dissipate. Days are growing longer. Light begins to shine. It will take months for our days to have more light than dark. But we are beginning to see light is winning.

Lent is a weird season. As the adventure began in utter darkness, the darkness begins to dissipate. Soon after Ash Wednesday, we realize that our despair is all for naught. The cross begins to take shape. It begins to break through the darkness of our sin. Reminding us that hope has won.

This Lent and Easter season we will be looking at how some families never change, based on the prophet of Hosea, and realizing how much the family of God is changed through the hope we have in the resurrection of our Savior Jesus.

January is still weird, but that ok because it brings us closer to the celebration of the empty tomb of our Savior Jesus who rescued us from the darkness of our despair.

Praying for a blessed 2023 year!

In the service of Jesus,
Pastor Eric

If you are currently receiving your newsletter through the mail but would like it sent via email or you would like to pick it up, please let the church office know.

We can hardly believe that it is already January. This month we will learn about Winter, snowmen, ice, and transportation. The 3's will also begin their study of shapes, while the 4's will continue their unit on letters.

We will be celebrating National Lutheran Schools week, January 23rd—17th. We look forward to fun dress up days!

As we look ahead to celebrating National Lutheran Schools Week we reflect on the changes that have taken place in the Pre-school wing. We were excited to see the work the Trustees and the contractors have done. They removed the old flooring, ceiling tiles, and brick walls to allow for construction to begin.

As we look ahead to our expanding preschool program and the needs of that program, we have created a wish list. This is a list of items needed to provide a safe and educational environment for our students. During, January the “little white church” will be out to collect donations which will be used to purchase items off this list.

If you enjoy shopping and want to purchase items directly off the wish list, scan the QR Code below. This code will allow you to look at the list. You can then purchase and send directly to the Preschool. We thank everyone for their continued support of the Preschool.

Your Past Does Not Define Your Future

New Year's is a celebration of the past and the future. We take stock of the past with thanksgiving and sometimes even relief (that it's over), and we look to the future in hope and anticipation, and perhaps with some worry, for what it holds.

The point is that New Year's celebrations remind us of who we are as opposed to who we would like to be, what we have done in comparison to what we want to do. It reminds us of our accomplishments, but mostly it reminds us of our failures. What we've lost. Who we've lost.

New Year's is our own version of Charles Dickens' classic, A Christmas Carol. And we all play Scrooge. We are visited by the ghosts of our pasts, presents and futures.

St. Paul writes: "The point is this: whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows bountifully will also reap bountifully. Each one must give as he has decided in his heart, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver. And God is able to make all grace abound to you, so that having all sufficiency in all things at all times, you may abound in every good work. As it is written, 'He has distributed freely, he has given to the poor; his righteousness endures forever.' He who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will supply and multiply your seed for sowing and increase the harvest of your righteousness. You will be enriched in every way for all your generosity, which through us will produce thanksgiving to God" (2 Cor. 9:6–15).

St. Paul tells us that the Lord will both supply and increase what we need to give to the church for its work in the world. He tells us that this work God does in us will enrich and bless us in every way, and through this, will produce thanksgiving to God. With this in mind, here is some practical advice to help you take stock of your giving in years past and change what needs to be adjusted, improved, or done away with altogether.

First, attend the Divine Service to receive God's gifts of forgiveness, life and salvation. If you've not been faithful in attending worship to hear the preaching of God's Word, to receive forgiveness and feast on the rich food of our Lord's body and blood for the eternal benefit of your body and soul, then repent and come to receive the gifts God freely gives. God doesn't want your money. He wants you — all of you (Matt. 22:20–22).

Second, pray for the Lord's help. Your right as a Christian is to speak with your Father, the King of all creation, freely through His Son, our Lord, Jesus Christ. Go to the throne of grace and ask for strength and wisdom to follow His bidding faithfully (John 15:1–16).

Third, consider what the church is and what the church does. The church is a place of mercy. It inhales the mercy of the Father by the death, resurrection and ascension of His Son through the preaching of the Gospel and the Sacraments. It exhales this mercy in love toward neighbors. You are a member of the church, of God's family. Thus, you are not only a recipient of God's mercy, but a bearer of that mercy for the life of the world. You spread that mercy through the generous giving of your income to support the work of the church in the world, as the Israelites did in the Old Testament (Lev. 27:1–34).

Fourth, take stock of your current giving in light of the New Testament's teaching on supporting the work of the church. Are you giving of your first fruits, taking it out of your paycheck first, or does God get what's left over? Are you giving voluntarily and cheerfully? Are you giving proportionally and generously? The Old Testament required a tithe, or ten percent. The New Testament gives freedom to be generous, to give more for the Church's work. Are you relying on God's promise to provide and increase what you need to do His work? If your answer is no to any of these, repent. If God gave you His only Son, will He not provide for you all things, even physical things? Trust Him, His Word, and heed it.

So, don't let your past define your future. Rather, commit for the year a generous proportion of your income, which is God's gift to you for this body and life.
