Dear redeemed and love Saints of grace!

This morning, June 15th, on my morning walk to the office, I haven't driven since my surgery. I started thinking about differences. For instance, last year there was an uneasiness for Emily and me as we anxiously awaited Emerie Joy. Last year the community and all the surrounding areas waited anxiously for the news on the pandemic. On my walk, I didn't feel any of the tension it felt refreshing to see busy streets instead of eerie silence, but I thought of something else the many differences that society has now created.

I firmly believe there will no longer be normal or whatever that word means in relation to our everyday routine. Since my surgery, I've been learning about scar tissue, and I firmly believe that the scar tissue of this past year will be carried for years to come for us who went through this experience.

This made me think of my grandma who carried the struggles of the Great Depression with her sometimes knowingly and sometimes unknowingly her whole life. The traits the worries or fears that she passed on to her six children knowingly or unknowingly. She lived through something that forever changed her life.

This brings me back to my walk. It only takes me 5 minutes or so but a lot sure has gone through my mind. I think about the church. The wounds she will forever bear for a generation. The weariness that echoes from her midst. The question that lingers can we trust the church? Why would I write that question?

These last two weeks my kids have shifted from wanting to watch YouTube to wanting to watch the "dragon movie" which is the latest Disney movie to be released "Raya and the Last Dragon." The theme of the movie is all about trusting people in a broken world. Wow, that hits home. I have been watching intently from my chair but this movie has made me think about the differences between last summer and this summer.

Will trust be the scar tissue that we carry whether it's trusting doctors, science, or just people in general. Will this be what we carry? Again, this takes me back to my walk, in these precious minutes from my front door to the front door of the church. My thoughts have crossed so many paths but there as my eyes adjust to the darkness of the entrance. I see the statue of Jesus. My thoughts turned to the lyrics "my God and Lord my God and Lord forsake me not I trust my word."

My thoughts drift to the place where trust is learned, Jesus. In Jesus, we find redemption from the brokenness of this world and in Jesus we find reconciliation with those who stand against us. In Jesus we find peace that he gives to the world through the redemption he has won for us. Through the reconciliation he made for us.

As I sit at my desk dictating these words to my computer. I rejoice in these promises that we have by being in Jesus. Even though there is weariness and fear for the future of the church. There is the promise of the news Jesus gives to the church. It is the church who bears the marks that Jesus gives to her. You bear these marks. It is time to live in the peace that Jesus gives the world. Don't let the scar tissue cause you to doubt the promises that Jesus speaks to you for he is our "God and Lord for sake me not I trust that word."

2022 National Youth Gathering Info

Held every 3 years since 1980, the LCMS Youth Gathering provides thousands of youth and adults the opportunity to come together as a community of God's people to be encouraged in their walk with Jesus Christ and learn about the Christian faith and their Lutheran identity.

The Gathering is more than the five days of the event. The preparation process for the Gathering brings together young people and supportive adults to encourage each other in their baptismal identity. The Gathering provides young people a vision for the vastness of Christ's Church and equips them for vocational service as they continue their walk with Jesus.

The next gathering will be held July 9th - 13th of 2022 in Houston, TX. This event is open to all youth who have completed 8th through 12th grades as of the start of the gathering. The theme for the gathering is "In All Things" and is based on Colossians 1:15-20.

The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod
LCMS Stewardship Ministry
Newsletter article – July 2020

“Good Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?” asked the rich young ruler. Jesus said, “You know the commandments.” And the ruler replied, “All these I have kept from my youth.” And Jesus said to him, “One thing you still lack. Sell all that you have and distribute to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.” (Luke 18:18–22)

As we listen to this, one question is raised in our minds: Is Jesus speaking to us also or only to the rich young ruler? In other words, is Jesus telling us to sell all that we have and give it to the poor? As good Lutherans, we answer: No! But why? Why should we not sell all that we have and distribute it to the poor?

The simplest explanation is this: If we sold everything we have, our wife and our children would be neglected. In other words, to sell everything we have and give it to the poor would ignore, even abandon, those whom God has placed in our care. Our money, everything we have, is not to be used solely for the church. But that doesn't mean it isn't to be used for the purpose God intends.

Everyone has three stations in life, three spheres in which we live and are to be of service to our neighbors. These stations are the church, the family, and society. We are members of all three of these by birth.

- We are born into the church by water and the Word of God, and our duties to others in the church arise from either our birth into the church or the birth of others by Baptism into it.
- We are born into a family, and our duties to others stem from either our birth into that family or the birth of others into our family.

Finally, we are born into society, which is simply a further extension of our birth into our family. The duties we have toward other members of society come from either our birth or the birth of others into the same society.

All that we have and all that we are is to be pressed into service for the church, the family, and society. If we were to sell all we have and give only to one, the other two would be neglected, and our duties toward them would falter.

So consider your life and all that you have in light of these three stations. You pay taxes to support and help those in society. You provide food, clothing, and shelter for the members of your family. You save for college for your children.

But the one station that is usually thought of last is the church. Since the needs of the family and society are more immediate, the church is often given what is left over. This is not how it should be. Rather, we are to give of our first fruits – the best from off the top – even as Abel gave the best of his flock.

This requires forethought and intent. It means that you sit down and make a plan for what you will give from the beginning. It means sticking to it even when it seems there are other more immediate and pressing things.

This is all the more necessary now as we enter into periods of time while giving is low due to high unemployment or restrictions on meeting in church to give. If we love God, his gifts of forgiveness given through the means of grace we receive at church and only at church, then we will support the church just as we love our country and our family.

For all that we have and all that we are is given to us by our gracious and giving God. He spared no expense for us and our salvation. He gave up His Son into death so that our sins are forgiven, and we will live. What is more, He provides for all that we need for this body and life. And our lives in this world, among these three spheres of the church, the family, and society, are to mirror the generosity of the one who gave us life in all three by birth.

Don't let the church, your divine family, be ignored or even an afterthought. The church is nurturing you, bringing you up in salvation by Word and Sacrament for eternal life.
