

What is a Full Lace Wig with Stretch?

What is a Full Lace Wig? A full lace hair piece is also referred to as a CRANIAL PROSTHESIS which is a DME (Durable Medical Equipment). The cranial prosthesis is a hand made hair piece which the cap is constructed of a French lace material. This material is Ultra Sheer Lace and is virtually undetectable when placed against the skin. Stretch lace is a small section in the back part of the cap which is right below the crown but above the nape. This allows you to wear your hair in a high or low ponytail. The hair is knotted twice to give the illusion it is growing from your scalp. The full lace hair piece is designed to give a natural look along the front and back hairlines. This wig takes approximately 6 to 8 weeks to design and create. This is to make sure excellent care is taken when placing each hair.
