9. Units returned with incomplete paperwork will be treated as an overdue core and the above charges will apply.

10. Core Units returned in serviceable condition must be in the same or better condition as the Exchange Unit, with an equal or higher modification standard. The customer agrees to provide warranty coverage on all Core Units returned in serviceable condition for up to 12 calendar months from the date of receipt. For units supplied in lesser condition and/or modification standard, Pioneer Aero Supply may choose to keep the unit and apply a depreciated condition differentiation fee according to the following table:

	New Unit In	OH Unit In	REP or IN/TE Unit In
New Unit Out	-	30% CCP	40% CCP
OH Unit Out	-	-	10% CCP
REP or IN/TE Unit Out	-	-	-

11. If a Core Unit is delivered in unserviceable condition, the customer will be responsible for any recertification and modification cost required to return the core to the same standard configuration as the original Exchange Unit in addition to a handling fee of 10% of the repair cost, with a minimum of $250. We will approve any repair quote equal to or under 75% of the agreed upon outright core value. Should a repair quote exceed 75% of the outright core value, the customer shall be given five (5) calendar days to approve or reject the repair of the Core Unit at the quoted price. Further price negotiations and special requests for repair will not be permitted during this time as all quotes will have been previously reviewed by us. If Customer fails to object to the repair within the five (5) day period, we will proceed to repair the Core Unit at the quoted price for all quotes below the outright core value and the Customer will be invoiced accordingly. If the Customer objects to the repair of the Core Unit or the unit is deemed Beyond Economical Repair (Quote exceeds outright core value), the exchange will be (a) converted to an outright sale; and (b) Customer shall pay the Outright Price, plus all accrued Exchange Fees, and any shipping and repair costs incurred plus a flat $250 handling fee. The Core Unit will then be returned to the Customer at the Customer's sole risk and expense, provided that the appropriate shipping instructions have been confirmed, including ship method, account number, shipping address, contact, and any special instructions as applicable. If a Customer BER core is not collected or disposition instructions are not provided within fourteen (14) days following written notification from Pioneer, and after a minimum of three (3) documented contact attempts, Pioneer reserves the right to take ownership of the unit and determine final disposition, including scrap or resale, at its sole discretion.

12. If the repair station cannot complete the repair within 120 days, or if piece-part lead times or other delays extend the turnaround time past 120 days, PAS reserves the right, at its sole discretion and without liability, to convert the order to an outright sale.

13. In certain cases, the repair facility may issue a revised quote following inspection or teardown or based off of additional findings discovered during the repair process. Should this occur, Pioneer Aero Supply will issue a new invoice to reflect the updated repair costs. A corresponding credit will be issued for the original invoice (if already paid). The customer acknowledges that such revisions are a normal part of the aviation repair process and agrees to remit payment in accordance with the updated invoice terms.

14. If component use or value is impacted by age or date of manufacture ("DOM") and limited to a given range (i.e. 15 years for certain inflatables, 20 years for certain actuators), Customer will be charged a prorated penalty of 7% of the Outright Price per year that Core Unit is lesser than the Exchange Unit determined by effective age limit of the component. All disparities in DOM for such units must be pre-reviewed and approved by Pioneer Aero Supply. Expired components or Core Units exceeding age or DOM limit will be replaced at Customer's expense, or Customer will be charged the Outright Price as applicable per the above terms.

15. Brakes: Customer will be charged 1% of the Outright Price for each percentage that the core life remaining is lesser than the exchange core. Differences exceeding 25%, or lesser core units under 50%, are subject to the core unit heat pack or affected component being replaced at customer expense or charged Outright as applicable per the above terms.

16. Life Limited Parts: The life depreciation fee is equivalent to the difference of life in months since DOM of the Exchange Unit and the Core Unit multiplied with the monthly straight-line depreciation of the value based on 100 % of the current CCP. The life depreciation fee will be charged in addition to any other charges that apply to the exchange. Upon mutual agreement, the Customer may return an alternative unit, instead of paying the life depreciation fee, provided that the alternative unit is interchangeable and fulfils the previously listed requirements as applicable. Pioneer Aero Supply will not accept any life limited units with a life remaining of less than 20%.

17. Risk of loss and damage to the Exchange Unit will pass from us to Customer at the time the Exchange Unit is tendered to Customer (or its appointed common carrier) at the Delivery Location. Customer shall be responsible for any and all loss or damage of the Exchange Unit during shipment.
