Pote’s Notes

Nobles and Ladies,

It has truly been both a pleasure and an honor to serve as your Potentate this year. As we close out another fantastic year, I want to take a moment to express my heartfelt gratitude for your support, encouragement, and friendship throughout this journey. It has been a year filled with fun, fellowship, and unforgettable memories.

The events this year were top-notch and well attended, and that success is thanks to each and every one of you who showed up and made them special. Special thanks to my Aides, the office staff, and our Divan for your unwavering support through a challenging year. I could not have been blessed with a better team to help guide and support me. You all made this role a joy.

We’ve wrapped up another successful Circus in parallel with the Festival of Trees—two major events that require countless hours of planning and hard work. I am deeply grateful for how Ararat shows up for every endeavor. Your dedication makes all the difference. Before we wrap up the year, don’t miss the All-Temple Christmas Party and Ararat Children’s Christmas Party. These events are always a highlight of the season, and I hope to see you and your families there as we share in the joy of the holidays. We’ll end the year with Camel’s Milk, a time-honored tradition for our Nobles.

As I step back and look forward to next year with fewer responsibilities, I am excited to see what Noble Ben and his leadership team have planned for us. I know they will continue the tradition of excellence, and I look forward to supporting them in every way I can.

From my family to yours, Happy Holidays! Thank you for making this year so special. Fraternaly yours,

Jeremy Yates

BY GARY DAVIS

Ararat Hospital Transportation had a blast making our trip to St. Louis Shriners Hospital on October 24, 2025, for another great Star Wars visit! What a fantastic day to be an Ararat Shriner!

Huge shout-out to Sam Manthei and Bob Duncan for getting this tradition off the ground a couple of years ago. We visit every April and October—reach out if you want to ride along with us!

Nobles on the Run: Noble Gary Davis (myself), Sam Manthei, Bob Duncan, Jay McClintick, and Jon Boone.

And a massive thank you to our Star Wars Troopers who brought the magic: Heidi Wilson, Michael Cook, Michael Musgraves-Perkins, and Danny Nichols!

Ole Cars

With the 2025 Parade season coming to a close, Ole Cars would like to thank everybody that helped make this season great. We appreciate all of you coming out and representing our Temple. We look forward to the 2026 season, and we hope your support will make next season even better.

About Shriners Children's

At Shriners Children's, we are committed to reaching as many children as possible, wherever they may live, and offering them our unique, patient-centered, wraparound care.

For most of its history, our healthcare system has been known as Shriners Hospitals for Children. As we adapt to current nationwide trends in healthcare, especially the emphasis on outpatient care, and some locations become clinics or outpatient centers, we have introduced the phrase "Shriners Children's." It is shorter and more definitive – clearly stating who we are and what we care about. We are Shriners and our commitment is to Children. In today's fast-paced world, this short phrase helps to succinctly and clearly define us.

Since opening our first hospital in 1922, we have been devoted to providing high-quality specialty medical care to the children and families who come to us, regardless of their ability to pay or insurance status. A century later, our commitment hasn't changed — only expanded.

Our three-part mission has one goal: to change and improve lives. We do this by caring for our patients, conducting research to gain knowledge and develop new treatments, and providing educational opportunities for physicians and other healthcare professionals.

From One Location to Worldwide Reach

The members of the Shriners fraternity have always shared a desire to help those in need. In the late 1910s, as a polio epidemic swept across the United States, it was apparent that many children were going without appropriate care. So the Shriners established a children's hospital to meet this need.

On May 12, 1922, thousands gathered to witness the placing of the cornerstone of the first Shriners Children's hospital, in Shreveport, Louisiana. The first patient – a little girl with clubfoot – was seen on Sept. 16, 1922, in a remodeled home adjacent to the Masonic temple while construction of the permanent hospital was underway.

What began as a single hospital is now a world-renowned and beloved healthcare system with hospitals, outpatient clinics, ambulatory care centers and outreach locations across the globe. We are now providing hope and healing to more children in more places.

Hope and Healing

Today, Shriners Children's offers care for a range of orthopedic conditions, as well as care for burn injuries, craniofacial conditions, spine care and spinal cord injuries, and sports medicine. Our experienced, innovative and dedicated teams work together to provide treatment to help each patient meet their goals and reach their full potential.

At Shriners Children's, we are grateful for the vision of the Shriners that led to the creation of our healthcare system. We look forward to a second hundred years of changing and improving the lives of children.

Our Core Values

At Shriners Children's, we are committed to improving children's lives every day. Our compassionate, wrap-around care envelops each patient in a supportive and loving environment that helps them thrive.

Kruz experienced a traumatic birth, causing a diagnosis of Erb's palsy, a type of brachial plexus injury.

It is something that no mother wants to experience, yet it happens in one to three out of every 1,000 births.

As a result, after he was born, he had no movement in his left arm, and it hung limp at his side. His fingers were curled up, and his hand was stuck in a position pointing behind him. He additionally had very little movement in his fingers on his left hand, but his right arm and hand were unaffected. He started therapy when he was 3 weeks old to help him move his arm.

Erb's palsy is most often the result of a difficult delivery when the infant's neck is stretched during the birthing process. The resulting damage to the brachial plexus, a network of nerves near the neck, causes arm weakness and loss of motion, and possible paralysis of the shoulder, arm, hands and fingers.

Through parent social media groups, Kruz's mom, Briana, learned about Scott Kozin, M.D., from Shriners Children's Philadelphia, a leader in treating this condition. He has spent his career specializing in brachial plexus injuries and has written more than 100 peer-reviewed papers, many covering this type of injury. Therefore, Briana knew she and her son were in good hands before she even set foot in Shriners Children's Philadelphia.

After their first appointment with Dr. Kozin, Briana said she "loved him" and felt "very comfortable" with him. She said she knew she wanted Kruz to be under his care. He had his first appointment when he was 1 month old in June 2024. Kruz followed up with Dr. Kozin on a monthly basis to determine if surgery would be necessary.

It was decided that Kruz would need a closed reduction surgery on his left shoulder after the humeral head, or ball, began slipping out of the socket, a condition known as subluxation. The surgery was performed when Kruz was 6 months old to push his shoulder back into place. Dr. Kozin also injected botulinum toxin into Kruz's internal rotators to temporarily weaken his internal rotation so that, with physical therapy and stretching, his arm could gain external rotation over time. Dr. Kozin said, "Surgery was successful to realign the joint."

After his initial surgery, he was fitted for a spica cast, which was used to hold his joint in place. Unfortunately, due to the severity of Kruz's Erb's palsy, Dr. Kozin had to operate again when Kruz was 9 months old due to humeral head subluxation. Kruz then had an open reduction surgery and a nerve transfer, and after surgery, was in a spica cast again for another four to six weeks. That was his most recent surgery. He is now six months post op, and his shoulder has not come out of place.

Briana said she feels reassured that the Shriners Children's Philadelphia team consistently conducts ultrasounds at every appointment to confirm everything is healing properly. She also showed her appreciation not only for Dr. Kozin but also for Eugene Park, M.D., who surgically administered Kruz's sutures, which healed beautifully.

However, it was not just the surgical side of Kruz's care that left Briana satisfied with Shriners Children's Philadelphia. Within the rehabilitation team, the occupational therapists (OTs) went above and beyond to support Kruz and his recovery from surgery. The OTs took measurements of his arm and fitted him for his nighttime brace needed directly after surgery. Due to his progress from OT, he no longer needs to wear the brace. Briana emphasized that the team made sure she was comfortable asking questions during any step of the process.

Right after his nerve transfer surgery, Kruz had OT two times a day and underwent intensive therapy practices. Briana then began to make regular trips to Philadelphia to see the OTs at the hospital instead of her local outpatient facility. She said she felt more comfortable continuing therapy at Shriners

Children's after surgery due to the severity of her son's case and recurring shoulder issues. She chose to go once a week and said this also made it an easy way to communicate with Dr. Kozin if she had any concerns. Now, Kruz has follow-up appointments every few months with Dr. Kozin to make sure he is still healing properly. Kruz is now back in outpatient therapy at his local facility, along with Early Intervention services at home to aid in his recovery.

Today, Kruz is 16 months old and has more external rotation of his left arm than ever before. Prior to his surgeries, he couldn't move his arm outwards to the side at all. "He would cry in pain if you put his arm in a 'high 5' position," Briana said. "Now, after surgery, he can successfully move his arm actively and passively."

Due to nerves naturally healing slowly, Kruz and his medical team are still waiting to find out if he will be able to put his hands above his head. However, in the meantime, he has improved fine motor skills: he can feed himself, clap, give high fives, and reach his arm out to the side. Due to his injury, he was never able to crawl and bear that much weight on his arms, so he adapted by scooting on the floor to get around. In therapy, the team would work on crawling with Kruz, but it was difficult for him. Therefore, he bypassed crawling and started walking at 14 months. "He's come such a long way," Briana said.

"The quality of care at Shriners Children's Philadelphia has been very thorough, and the staff are personable, caring and dedicated to what they do. The peace of mind knowing that you're in good hands really helps you get through the difficult times," Briana said. "Knowing I was seeing Dr. Kozin, someone who is really good at what he does, helped me know I was in good hands. I hadn't felt that way before."

One of Kruz's nicknames is "Nemo," and his family calls his injured arm his "Lucky Fin." They have additionally referenced "just keep swimming" throughout his journey, just like the motif throughout the film Finding Nemo. Coincidentally, Kruz loves water and swimming. Soon, he will be splashing around with both arms as he continues to regain mobility and rotation in his "lucky fin."
