PERSONAL STATEMENT

Water polo has been more than just a sport to me; it's been a crucible that has forged my character, resilience, and leadership. From the moment I first gripped the ball and felt the resistance of the water, I knew this was where I belonged.

As I approach my senior year at Beckman High school, I reflect on a journey marked by relentless dedication and growth. I immersed myself in the sport, attending every practice, analyzing game footage, and seeking feedback to refine my skills. My commitment led to earning a starting position on the varsity team as a freshman.

My team's collective hard work and unity means everything to me; I take pride in fostering a team culture that values perseverance, strategic thinking, and mutual support.

My leadership extends beyond the pool. I maintain a 3.9 GPA while actively contributing to ISCC (International Society of Children with Cancer), a cause close to my heart. Through organizing fundraisers and mentoring younger volunteers, I've honed empathy and responsibility; understanding that a well-rounded individual contributes more profoundly to a team and community.

Outside athletics and service, I play piano and have earned several Certificates of Merit, which taught me the importance of disciplined practice and self-expression—qualities mirrored in my approach to both academics and athletics.

I am eager to bring my passion, discipline, and strategic mindset to your water polo program. I am confident that my experiences and unwavering commitment will make me a valuable asset to your team.
