1. Introduction

Quinn Oath Advisory Limited is committed to protecting and respecting your privacy. This Privacy Policy explains how personal information is collected, used, stored, and protected when you visit our website, contact us, engage our services, or otherwise interact with us.

We recognise the importance of handling personal information responsibly and in accordance with applicable UK data protection legislation, including the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2018.

By using this website or engaging with Quinn Oath Advisory Limited, you acknowledge the practices described within this policy.

2. Who We Are

Quinn Oath Advisory Limited is a UK-based consultancy providing compliance, governance, risk, and advisory services to firms operating within regulated and professional environments.

Quinn Oath Advisory Limited is the data controller responsible for the processing of personal data described within this policy.

Company Name: Quinn Oath Advisory Limited
Registered in England and Wales No. 17230832
Contact Email: helen@quinnoathadvisory.co.uk

3. Information We May Collect

We may collect, use, store, and process personal information including names, job titles, company details, email addresses, telephone numbers, postal addresses, and correspondence submitted through our website, email, or other communication channels.

Technical information may also be collected automatically through website usage, including IP address, browser type, operating system, referral source, pages visited, and website interaction data.

Where consultancy services are provided, additional information relevant to the engagement may be processed where necessary for the delivery of services, contractual obligations, or legitimate business activities.

We do not intentionally collect sensitive personal data unless it is directly relevant and necessary for the provision of services.

4. How We Use Personal Information

Personal information may be used for purposes including responding to enquiries, communicating with prospective or existing clients, delivering consultancy services, maintaining records, improving website functionality, maintaining security, complying with legal or regulatory obligations, and supporting the operation and development of the business.

Information may also be used for administrative purposes, invoicing, contractual management, and professional communications relating to services requested or provided.

We will only process personal information where there is a lawful basis for doing so.

5. Lawful Basis for Processing

Quinn Oath Advisory Limited processes personal data under one or more lawful bases permitted under UK GDPR.

These may include processing necessary for legitimate business interests, performance of a contract, compliance with legal obligations, or consent where consent is required.

Where consent is relied upon, individuals retain the right to withdraw consent at any time.

6. Disclosure of Information

We do not sell personal data to third parties.

Information may be shared with trusted service providers, professional advisers, technology providers, accountants, website hosting providers, or regulatory authorities where necessary for legitimate business operations, professional obligations, or legal compliance.

All reasonable steps are taken to ensure that third parties handling information on our behalf maintain appropriate standards of confidentiality and security.

7. International Transfers

Where personal information is transferred outside the United Kingdom, appropriate safeguards will be implemented to ensure that personal data continues to receive an adequate level of protection consistent with applicable data protection legislation.

8. Data Retention

Personal information will only be retained for as long as reasonably necessary for the purposes for which it was collected, including legal, regulatory, professional, contractual, or operational requirements.

Retention periods may vary depending on the nature of the information and the purpose for which it is processed.

9. Data Security

Quinn Oath Advisory Limited takes reasonable technical and organisational measures to protect personal data from unauthorised access, misuse, alteration, disclosure, or destruction.

While every effort is made to protect information, no internet-based transmission or storage system can be guaranteed as completely secure.

10. Individual Rights

Individuals may have rights under data protection legislation including the right to request access to personal data, request correction of inaccurate information, request deletion of data in certain circumstances, object to processing, restrict processing, or request data portability.

Requests relating to personal data should be submitted in writing to helen@quinnoathadvisory.co.uk

11. Cookies and Website Tracking

This website may use cookies, analytics tools, and similar technologies to support functionality, improve user experience, and analyse website performance.

Further information is available within our Cookie Policy.

12. Changes to This Policy

This Privacy Policy may be updated periodically to reflect legal, regulatory, technical, or operational changes.

The most recent version will always be available on our website.
