Bya Mukungu Rachel Nabudde

Endokwa y'ekitooke ky'embidde ewaguza mu kizikiza ky'ettaka nga ewamantira ekitangaala eky'enjuba waggulu w'ettaka. Mu kuwaguza kwayo, endokwa esooka kusimba mirandira mw'eneeyita okunyunyunta omusulo gw'ensi wansi w'ettaka. Olwo ate n'evuganya n'omuddo mu kufuna ekiriisa eky'omusana wamu n'ekiriisa eky'omuttaka eryoke emulise ate oluvanyuma eyengeze ekibala kyayo mu budde bwakyo. Okuwamanta, okunyunyunta n'okuvuganya ge gamu ku makubo embidde ge yeeyambisa okutuuka ku lyengedde.

Ng'embidde bwsibuka mu ndokwa entono ennyo; n'ekirowoozo ekizimba obwakabaka n'ebitongole eby'amaanyi bwe kitandika mu mutwe gw'omuntu omuwanguzi. Nga tekinaba kubala bibala ebirabwakwo, ekirowoozo ekiramu kiteekwa okuaguza ebiziyiza byonna: okusooka mu kyama, nga kivuganya n'ebirowoozo ebirala mu mutwe gwa nnyinikyo; ate oluvanyuma ne mu lwatu nga kivuganya n'ebirowoozo ebirala okuva mu mitwe gy'abalabi. Mu kuwaguza, okunyunyunta n'okuvuganya oluusi mubaamu obwetoowaze obw'okugumira okuyiirwa ettaka ng'endokwa y'embidde. Olulala kuba kugumira bizibu ng'okukubwa enkuba n'okukulukutibwako mukoka.

Tulabye abakulembeze bangi abaatikirivu abaayita mu mbeera nnyingi ez'obwetoowaze eyo mu maka gye baakulira, amasomero gye baagunjilibwa, wamu n'emirimu egitandikirwako naye era n'ebaguma nga bagenderera okutuuka ku lyengedde. Okutya embeera ey'obwetoowaze n'okwanjanga ebiziyiza kuba kutya kuzimba bwakabaka oba ebitongole eby'amanyi.

Kirowoozeeko, Africa okufuuka amatwale, Abakolone ekirowoozo kyabwe bakiwandiika mabega wa bbaasa enjulifu! Kyokka okuva olwo, eby'obugagga bya Africa, nga mwe muli abantu n'ebintu bikozesebbwa okugasa abaana n'abazzukulu b'abo abaalina abakulembeze ba Mulengerawala (visionary) abaaloota ebirooto ebyalabika nga ebitasoboka mu kiseera ekyo.

Mu kuzimba ebirowoozo, ekisookerwako kwe kulowooza okusukkuluma obusobozi n'embeera gy'olimu. Olwo n'olyoka onoonya ebikozesebwa nga mwe muli abantu n'ebintu abayinza okussa ettoffaali ku kirowoozokyo. Teweeyibaala nti ttlifuna kusoomoozebw, naye ng'endokwa y'embedde, wagaanya okuyita mu misanvu gyonna egiriwo.

Abasomi ba Bbayibuli bamanyi nti Yesu Kritso yatandikira mu kiraalo kya nte wakati mu bisolo era mu bantu abanyomebw. Yayigganyizibwa mu kibaya, n'akemebwa mu ddungu nga talinaamu yadde 'ekuba enkofu' ng'era tuyala naye teyava ku mulamwa gw'ekyo kye yagenderera okukola ku nsi era nga kye kyamuviiramu etutumu na buli kati lye tweniyumiririzaamu.

Omumwa gw'akasikwasikwa ak'embedde guba mugonvu nnyo era nga munafu, ekyewunyisa kiri nti mu bumalirivu bwako, kayasa ettaka ne kafuna ekitangaala eky'enjuba. Obumalirivu bwossa mu kirowoozokyo bwe busobola okuwaliriza abantu, abalina ebintu ebijja okkusobozesa okutwala ekirowoozokyo mu maaso, okukweyuna.

Oluusi ekirowoozo bwe kikula ne kigaziwa abantu batera obutajjukira ntandikwa yaakyo. Naye oyo omusizi waakyo tayinza kwerabira wa gye kivudde na wa gye yalengera gye kirina okulaga. Eno y'emu ku nsonga Iwaki nti embedde bwe kula n'etemebwa, nga tesiguddwa, endokwa endala zimeruka, okuva mu mirandira gyayo egiri mu nzikiza y'ettaka. Kulwekyo, weewalanga okufeebya ba Mulengerawala abali mu mbugayo; kagabe maka, bitongole oba ggwanga. Kubanga ebitongole bingi bigwa Iwa kufeebya ba Mulengerawala baabyo. Nga 14 Mukutulansanja, twakeera nnyo, nze ne Mukulu wange Kagugube, ne twessa mu ddene okugenda mu Kkooti, okuwulira ensala y'omusango gw'okugobwa kwa mutabani waffe Simon, omutabani omukulu owa Kagugube.

Simon, yagobwa ku mulimu mu kitongole ekiwabuzi ku mirimu gya gavumenti, nga avunaanibwa okukoza obubi ekifookye ate n'okukoza olulimi olujolonga omu ku bakozi banne! Mbu Simon alina mukozi munne gwe yalangira, mbu ennyindo ye yabayaabyaatala nga akamotoka ka kikere!

The Only Move That Matters

is your next one

By Mukungu Geoffrey Lutaaya

The effects of the Covid-19 pandemic have been a tough, real-life stress test. This has highlighted gaps and vulnerabilities within our communities – lives have been lost, lifestyles and employment altered making the future uncertain for many. Navigating our way from these challenges may require a more nuanced approach to life. By changing one's mindset, reassessing your skillset and appropriately channelling your effort, you can make the best of the hand you have been dealt. In this article, I have been inspired by Ecclesiastes 7:10; Do not say, why were the old days better than these? For it is not wise to ask such questions. Here are some nuggets that I consider helpful in securing gainful employment / income generation in the current environment.

Mukungu Geoffrey Lutaaya

1. The Ability to Pivot - desist from being too rigid. To survive in these uncertain times, you have to be able to pivot at a moment's notice. In practice, you want to build upon your assets: strengths, interests and networks to launch a new career with meaning and adventure. While at it, you may also want to assess how marketable your current skills are; perhaps it is time to gain new skills. Being self aware allows one to identify gaps in their skillset, and / or where one might need additional support. It also has the added benefit of helping one identify and express their emotions more effectively - this in turn helps you make better decisions. A sage once noted that "the only move that matters is your next one." What stands between you and your next adventure might be a bit of preparation, strategy, well directed action.

“Taking the inventory of your current work at all levels will automatically produce greater focus, alignment, and sense of priorities.” – David Allen

2. Reframing - examine your biases by seeking for, and using new information to better appreciate the situation you find yourself in. However, do not become self-absorbed to the point where you live in condemnation. Put another way, shift the focus from what you do not have, to what you're able to do about it. And act appropriately; you may find that a change in mindset comes in handy!

3. Mindset change - in our context, this invites exploration and a bias to action. Begin by visualising the future you want. If you focus on what needs to be done to forge an appropriate future, the right feelings and actions are more likely to follow. Do what you can as long as it is legal / moral until you find what works for this stage of your life. Perhaps you are aware that the mind is a powerful force; It can enslave or empower you. It can plunge one into the depths of misery or ecstasy! You get to decide what / who will control your mind. Therefore, at this stage of your life, use your mind appropriately. I once read an insightful quote: “sometimes you have to put aside your qualifications and hustle so as to put food on the table.” If you do not, all your highest hopes may come to a screeching halt!

“The best place to succeed is where you are with what you have.” – Charles Schwab.

4. Engage in radical collaboration - it helps to remember that you're not alone. Ask for help if you must. Make use of community networks; many of the best ideas will come from other people. The people around you are a pool of support waiting to be tapped. Therefore, strengthen those connections. Meet someone you haven't seen in a while. Better still: speak to people in different fields or with different backgrounds – this collision of different backgrounds / ideas will often generate unique solutions for your situation. Remember to listen carefully to the meaning behind words people use then consult God in prayer before using any insights.

The Only Move That Matters

is your next one

By Mukungu Geoffrey Lutaaya

5. Network - The beauty of using networks is that no matter what industry you're in, or would want to be in, knowing the right people is the key to success. By regularly attending business and social events, people will begin to recognise you. And by offering helpful information to others, you can help build your reputation as a knowledgeable, reliable and supportive contact - a potential professional partner / employee.

6. Be open to change - life is about growth and change. It is not static nor about some destination. While we can not always choose what happens to us, we can often choose our response to what happens! Therefore, take action geared at improving your situation. If you must, start something new. Abandon the belief that you couldn't stop doing what you have always done. However, be prudent in all your endeavours; it forestalls common mistakes.

"Nobody can go back and start a new beginning but anyone can start today and make a new ending." - Maria Robinson.

7. Never give up - it is your life; you owe it to yourself to have a say in how your life story ends! That you've come this far is proof that what you're going through will end. However, it will take discipline. As Colin Powell put it: "...there are no secrets to success. It is the result of preparation, hard work and learning from failure." Therefore, review what you are working on to determine if it is the most important priority. Then schedule your priorities and stay focussed until you succeed. Take lessons and repeat the process. The Baganda say that: "People who achieve good results do not mind repeating the mundane tasks that play an essential role in producing those results - "Atega akwasa, teyekanya kulambula."

The effects of the Covid-19 pandemic have shaken the hitherto sturdy careers and businesses of many in our communities. For others, a perfect job has not stopped the urge to do things differently. To wade through these uncertainties, the seven ideas in this article may be useful in bridging the gap between where you are and where you want to be.

There will be many bumps in the road on the path to success. However, stay focused on winning; forget what is behind you and around you. Yes - you cannot control everything that happens, but by embracing some of the ideas in this article, you can get better at developing your readiness for change, and resilience to attain your goals whichever way you choose to turn.

Virtual Luganda Academy

It is through the Sitegedde Foundation objective six (6) that the Virtual Luganda Academy project was set up. It is through this project that we teach the Luganda language, culture and traditions of the Ganda tribe. We treat Luganda as a major language of instruction among Ugandans and their friends in, and outside Uganda. So our approach in teaching it goes beyond the words but also their meaning within social, political and economic context.

These classes are not aimed at Baganda only but to all who wish to learn regardless of where they are based. As such, our learners come from USA, Canada, EU and Australia.

In the first year, 2021, we recruited thirty five (35) Luganda learners. These included both children and young adults. This year, 2022, we received more than fifty (50) applications from parents and young adults seeking to learn Luganda.

Our programmes, after going through two full sessions, is now set to always run from April - September each year.

We are now taking expressions of interest for the classes that will run in 2023.

You are therefore invited to write to us letting us know which of the below classes you can join.

- ⇒ Sunday 6-7:30PM (7-15 years)
- ⇒ Saturday 6-7:30 PM (7-15 years)
- ⇒ Tuesday 7-9 PM (16 years+)

Declutter - The Key To Success

By Miss Liz Florence Nakkozi

Success occurs when opportunity meets preparation. Zig Ziglar

Opportunity comes in different forms and shapes. It could be an offer in one of the Russel Group universities, winning an award, being elected as a youth leader in your community, promotion at work, meeting influential people, launching a start-up, becoming a manager and much more. Preparation is key and it can be done in various ways. Sometimes you need to hire a coach, teacher or an expert to help you prepare for the opportunities ahead.

I am an Image consultant and a professional organiser. I empower ladies to dress for success every day and as a result they create great first impressions and opportunities for any engagement.

When you dress well, you will feel good about yourself. With a raised self-esteem, you stand a chance to stand out in a crowd and have gravitas in any room you walk in.

Your image is not only important when you step outside your door but also at home. As a professional organiser, I help people to create a clutter free lifestyle. An organised lifestyle will set you up for success. It can also save you time and money.

Back in January, I had an opportunity to be interviewed by Mukungu Rachel Nabbude about what I do. In the interview, broadcast on Enyimba za Kristo Youtube channel, I talked about how someone can break the culture of holding onto things and how they can begin to declutter their home.

During the interview I recommended three main points:

1. Having a mindset of keeping a clutter free environment sets the ball rolling in your home, work environment and personal life.
2. You need to understand the reasons for the need to declutter your environment and train your family to do the same.
3. Create permanent 'homes' for every item in your home and work environment.

I also emphasised how important it is to dress for success every day. When you do, you will be perceived confident, wealthy and competent. In return, this will create opportunities for recognition as a suitable candidate for your dream job or introduction to influential people.

Get rid of clutter and you may just find it was blocking the door you have been looking for. Katrina Mayer

For the young people, it is crucial to create an organised lifestyle from the outset. This will help you to visualise a clear picture of your career goals and dreams. It has been said that we become what we think. Our thoughts are usually formed by the words we speak and the images we see. It is easier to progress in your career with a clutter free mind and a clear blueprint of what you are trying to accomplish.

Some of the steps to declutter your mind could be:

1. Writing down your career goals and dreams.
2. Having an action plan of achieving your goals.
3. Surrounding yourself with like-minded people. You need people who are going in the same direction as you, and have confidence in your vision.
4. Listening to inspiring and motivational messages.
5. Declutter your social media platforms and follow only positive impactful friends and influential people that can add to what you are trying to achieve. Afterall today's employability could be based on what you post or who you follow on social media.
6. You can also invest in a mentor/coach who can support you on this journey.

Decluttering your mind and environment is fundamental for your career development. Why don't you start to organise your life today?

Graduate Profile: Msc Investment & Finance

By Mr Nicholas M Jjemba

Why did you choose finance?

Finance is a subject that teaches skills which are versatile and widely applicable to many industries. As an individual who was uncertain about the career I wanted to pursue long-term, choosing to study economics/finance was a perfect method in ensuring I had many pathways available to me after college. As a result, I felt less time-constrained, and gained a larger opportunity set to explore.

Mr Nicholas M Jjemba

How did you find it?

My undergraduate studies felt tedious as the learning material was very theoretical. However, I appreciated that it was fundamental knowledge which had to be understood for more practical means to be reached. As I progressed further into my studies (particularly at the postgraduate level), I developed more skills that were applicable through resources and techniques which are used by professionals in the finance industry. So, the end goal in my case was certainly worth the committed hours.

How about balancing cost, lifestyle, peer pressure and academics?

University life primarily taught me about independence and budgeting. As the years went on, I learned how to limit my expenditure on essentials (clothes, food, books, appliances) to stretch my money further and allow a greater capacity to save. For example I remember spending £240 a month on food in year one. This soon decreased by 66 percent to a mere £80 during my final year!

What did you find most helpful in cutting cost?

The key cost driver for me was surrounding myself with like minded students with the same interest and values. This significantly reduced the peer pressure for overzealous spending on social events and consequently contributed to my financial discipline.

How about covid?

The Coronavirus pandemic ended up causing drastic changes as its effect became material at the end of my final year of undergraduate studies. Social life was extremely limited and exam structures were changed by our department so there was a lot to adapt to during this period. Thankfully, at the time and still, to this day, I had a dedicated support network of family and friends to help mutually navigate through these unprecedented times. Additionally, it also ended up stressing the importance of continued development through either skills or new hobbies to prevent regressing while indoors. I ended up beginning a small student investment fund online with friends to test our new knowledge and remain proactive during these unique times.

What advise would you give to your 18-year old self?

To focus more on getting real-life professional experience as early as possible. Looking back, I performed well in an academic sense, but I did not explore enough opportunities via Insight Days/Internships to gain a better grasp of soft and hard skills which are mandatory for a workplace environment. I believe this would have given me better grounding and opened up a wider network to pursue jobs at larger establishments much earlier in my career.

At present, I am an Operations Analyst for an Investment Management company and will move onto a Banking role later on this year. From the combination of these experiences, I hope to transition into Corporate or Investment Banking for my long-term career.

An Eye Opening Privilege

By Miss Virginia V Nawanje

Single parent mothers are seen as a frightening statistic rather than being acknowledged as key heads of their households. Many are often pushed aside for their efforts and sometimes disregarded by most because of their primary responsibility, mother, instead of understanding that they go above and beyond their role for those around them.

Before I start I want to make a statement: Single parent mothers are the strongest people in the world. This is something I have learnt to believe and always will because when you see it first hand, alongside the fact that a woman carries her child for 9 months inside her womb, it's impossible for me not to believe. Don't get me wrong, I have a father who has supported me, and is always there when I need him, but I can't ignore the natural distance that exists between single mothers' children and their fathers.

My mother Justine came to the UK from Uganda in 1991 with her husband and their one-year old son with not much to her name except the fact that she wanted better opportunities for her family. During the 90s she bore two daughters and moved her family to Plaistow in East London where she started to plant her roots. Justine worked very hard to keep her family happy. She juggled between work, study and being a full-time mother to her three children and those of her husband.

However, fate had other plans for her. She became very ill, split with her husband, lost her child and was left with four children to raise on her own. I don't know about you but if I was in that situation I don't know if I would have been able to carry on. Justine did. I wanted to give more context to the single parent Mum that raised me because she managed to do so much with so little and I couldn't be more proud to say "I was raised by a single parent mum."

What is it like being raised by a single parent mum, you ask? First, I was grateful for everything that we had. I never wanted anything because somehow my mum made sure I had everything I needed no matter the cost.

Miss Virginia V Nawanje

Don't get me wrong, I was well aware of our family's financial circumstances so I didn't want very much but when I did, I got it. This made me grateful for everything I received and I never needed more than I had. Secondly, I saw there was no 'lack of opportunity'. My mum has a saying "you can never say 'can't' because there is nothing you cannot do". So from that she did the following: graduated from university with a bachelor's degree, sent two of her children to private boarding schools on scholarships, all three children went to prestigious universities, completed their education and are now working in their chosen professions. She allowed us to travel to as many countries as we could afford and made sure there was always food on the table, clean beds and a roof over our head. As a result, from a young age, I learnt that I could do whatever I want as long as I work hard for it.

Next is resilience - All those things I just mentioned, which don't even touch the surface of what she has done for us. At one point mum had dialysis every two days, both at home and at the hospital, where she was drained for hours on end. Somehow she still managed to drive three hours to drop me to school every few weeks, cook every day, make sure the house was clean, have all my things prepared for school and more. It didn't matter how much pain she was in, she followed through on what she needed to do for her children. Seeing that, made me push through my hard times and became stronger against adversity. I am resilient.

Finally, is sacrifice - I don't need to delve into this one because all the above stems from 'sacrifice'. My mum sacrificed her well-being, her dreams and what she wanted to do for the sake of her children. I realised this after becoming an adult when I reflect on how little she has done for herself, how little she thinks of herself, and because of that, it has become one of my goals to give her all that she wants even though it will never compare to what she did for us.

For me, it has been a privilege to be raised by a single mother. It has taught me not to take things for granted, I can get through anything I put my mind to, and that someone will always back me up.

What is it like being raised by a single Mother, you ask?

An eye-opening privilege

Teaching in UAE - Your Next Move?

By Mr Henry Mutumba

I spent 5 years in Dubai, a city that dares visitors and residents to dream up the impossible. Brimming with imposing skyscrapers, shopping malls, sailboats, and enthusiastic students, Dubai and Abu Dhabi are paradise for the cosmopolitan teacher. A crossroads of cultures, cuisines, and characters from around the world, the sparkle of downtown UAE is more than just a pretty facade. It is a land of beeches, dune buggies and skyscrapers. But don't start packing just yet! Here's everything you need to know before teaching in Dubai - your next great (paid) adventure.

Mr Henry Mutumba

What is the average salary teaching in Dubai?

Are you wondering "How much do teachers get paid in Dubai?", Teaching is one of the top paying jobs in the UAE. Salaries for UK trained teachers in Dubai usually range from £2,800 to £6,500, per month depending on experience, and the type of school. Some schools also offer teachers competitive benefits' packages, including health insurance, roundtrip airfare for an annual visit home, and a local apartment rental. Be sure to look for these things in your contract and get anything promised to you down in writing before you arrive.

The good news: Teachers' salaries in Dubai are tax-free! So, what you earn stays in your pocket (until you spend it on all the epic things there are to do in Dubai, of course). #cha-ching

The less good news: The cost of living in Dubai is up there with other notoriously expensive international cities. Rent and groceries are particularly expensive, not to mention nightlife and other recreation options. Salaries should be enough to cover expenses, but there's not likely to be much left over in the way of savings unless you're a careful budgeter.

What are the requirements for teaching in UAE?

There is a wide range of schools in the UAE with differing requirements for their teaching staff. To get their foot in the door at Dubai's best schools – where salaries and benefits packages are the most impressive – teachers will need: a Master's degree in a relevant field, a teaching certification, and at least three years of experience. Other midrange schools accept teachers with Bachelor's degrees, experience requirements vary by position.

If you're looking for your first teaching job, Dubai may be a tough sell, but there are private families looking for tutors and non-profit schools looking for teaching interns and volunteers. These may not be your dream jobs, but are all great ways to get your teaching career off the ground while enjoying the Dubai lifestyle.

Note: Teaching in Dubai falls into two camps: the top schools usually follow American or British curriculum, and these schools want teachers with training from the source. In other words, the best American schools in Dubai prefer to hire North American native speakers with teaching certifications from a reputable American or Canadian institution. Likewise, schools that follow British curriculum restrict hires to teachers with certifications from the UK Universities and institutions. But they take certification from South African, Australian and New Zealand. Those holding Ugandan Certification need to exploit the opportunities available but the route is not straight forward.

What are the types of education job opportunities in Dubai?

Teaching opportunities in Dubai are as diverse as they are plentiful. Popular teaching opportunities in Dubai include ESL jobs, private tutoring, and international exam preparation. For those that want to stay on campus, just not in front of the blackboard, there are also plenty of other education jobs in Dubai to consider. Since most students (young and old) living in Dubai have advanced English. There are also opportunities to teach other subjects in English, including Mathematics, Science, Art, and ICT

Private Schools

There are many private schools in Dubai catering to the city's large affluent class. The language of instruction at most private schools is English, so there are always a plethora of opportunities for foreign teachers, whether in ESL programs or subject classes. .

Teaching in UAE - Your Next Move?

By Mr Henry Mutumba

Language School

As a global city, language schools in Dubai offer everything from German to Chinese. The most popular language schools teach English to adult expatriates, who need it for daily business communication. Some of the best ESL jobs in Dubai are at language Institutes, so if you're all brushed up on your past participles and subordinate conjunctions, this may be the educational environment for you.

Public School

Like everything else in Dubai, the public education program has grown rapidly over the last few decades. UAE is adopting the British curriculum, therefore they are offering similar subjects to private schools. Public schools are now open to all Dubai residents; however, Emirati students can enrol for free, while non-nationals pay annual fees. Public schools may be nominally less lucrative than comparable private schools, but foreign teachers will gain unique insight into the UAE's ambitious education reforms.

Private Families

Yes, it really is possible to teach young princes and princesses in Dubai! If this is your dream, look out for the surnames Al Nahyan, Al Maktoum, Al Qasimi, Al Nuaimi, Al Mualla, and Al Sharqi; the six royal houses that rule over the UAE's seven emirates. Most of these positions are contracted through recruiting agencies, so check out the organisations below for relevant opportunities.

Regardless of where and what you teach in Dubai, expect to encounter students who are eager to learn. Teachers will also notice that both public and private education in the United Arab Emirates make liberal use of information technology in the classroom. Be prepared to hit the keyboard and engage students both on and offline.

Where can I find teaching jobs in UAE?

Go Abroad, Seek teaching Agencies and TES newspaper have an entire lists of vetted teaching programs in UAE; this is the best place to start your search for jobs in UAE. These are some of the most common teaching positions in UAE, and native speakers will find abundant opportunities to share their native language with Dubai and Abu Dhabi's international population.

Wherever you go to find teaching opportunities in Dubai, make sure the recruiters and schools you contact are ADEC certified. If you want a shortlist of the most reputable companies for teaching in Dubai, read on (use only official Websites) to see some of the best jobs and programs.

Is it safe to teach in the Middle East?

Yes! While this Persian Gulf country may feel like unfamiliar territory, it's one of the Middle East's safest places for visiting expats. Don't be misled by neighbouring countries' features on the nightly news. The cosmopolitan glitz of Dubai and Abu Dhabi feels as far from these events as London or Tokyo. Dubai's crime rate is lower than most global cities of its size, and public transportation is clean and carefully monitored. Even petty crime is rare in Dubai, but, as anywhere, teachers should keep their wits about them and keep their valuables secure. Ensure you're respectful of local laws. Emirati police are generally very professional and considerate of guests, but there is little tolerance for rule breakers.

Do I need to know Arabic before teaching in UAE?

No. Dubai is a global business hub, so you can expect street signs, place names, and advertising to be in English and Arabic. For English teachers, some schools even prefer candidates with no Arabic background, to prevent anything other than English from being spoken in the classroom. Other schools look favourably on Arabic language experience or time spent in other Arabic-speaking countries, as this is seen as valuable cultural background.

Outside of the classroom, speaking the local language is undeniably a major bonus. Teachers in Dubai that speak Arabic will earn respect and brownie points with Emiratis and other Arabic-speaking expats, of which you will find many in Dubai. The flowering greeting "Salam wa 'alaykum" (literally "peace be upon you") is a great place to start.

When Siblings Step into Parents' Shoes

by Ms Justine Nakayenga Sserwadda (Bsc Hons)

When parents pass away, fall ill, divorce, separate or become overwhelmed, older, or sometimes their young children may adjust and fill the role of the guardian.

The surrogate parent as they are normally known, sometimes just teenagers themselves, must manage household logistics and make difficult decisions for siblings, all while dealing with their own grief and anxiety.

Usually, they must take care of themselves, for example, by preparing their own meals, clothing themselves, and keeping themselves entertained while caring for their parent as well.

At school, most of them become withdrawn. This dynamic between a care giving sibling and younger brothers and sisters impacts them in later years. Researchers are increasingly finding that in addition to toppling a child's development, this role reversal can leave deep emotional scars well into adulthood. Many, experience severe anxiety, depression, and psychological distress. Others report succumbing to eating disorders and substance abuse. Most of them are dirty and unkempt. Unpredictable childhood trauma has long-lasting effects on the brain. Studies have shown that people with adverse childhood experiences are more likely to suffer from mental and physical-health disorders, leading people to experience a chronic state of high stress reactivity.

Ms Justine Nakayenga Sserwadda

On the other hand, there are a few mums and dads who have more than one child, knowing that their oldest will step in as a parent-sibling. They see their oldest child as extra hands around the house. This is commonly practiced within most African families and it is usually a cultural norm. I can completely resonate to this experience. When my father passed on, as the last born of the family, I was raised by my older siblings only visiting my single mother for a few weeks during school holidays. Growing up in this kind of setting, I feel I for one, it gave me a sense of responsibility which has enabled me to raise my own children as a semi single parent as I decided to use that term in my situation. I co-parent with my children's father but in most cases, I take on the main parental role because the children have lived with me full time or even before one left home.

Whilst in my older sibling's custody, during my early years, I took on the role of looking after my nieces and nephews of which some of them when they reached their adulthood, decided to call me mummy instead of auntie. The age gap was not very wide which meant that doing homework, playing childhood games, and getting into mischief was always fun and well balanced. Looking back, I am very certain that I was not affected in any way. However, this is not the case in most modern families of today.

Despite negative outcomes associated with parentification, researchers say that going through such experience also presents some positive outcomes that can help people later in life as I can reminisce in my experience. I believe that people who have been parentified as children pose a greater capacity for resiliency and self-efficacy.

A common thread found in people with these shared childhood experiences is a heightened sense of empathy and an ability to more closely connect to others. I completely feel this way. This is not to say that the negative impact is diminished, but many children are able to forge meaning out of their suffering. People begin to see that their path to well-being must take into account the way in which trauma changed their story, and once they're able to do that, they can also see how resiliency is also important in their story.

Muk Lawrence Muyimba

Mu by'obutonde, buli mwana azaalibwa n'amagezi agamusobozesa okulaba ebigena mu maaso n'okuyiga ebyo ebimusomesebwa. Naye olw'okuba omwana ono abeera muto ng'akyazimbibwa ayinza okugeraageranyizibwa n'olupapula olweru, anti ky'oluwandii koko kiba kirabika. Kale abazadde balina okufuba okulaba nti omwana ono bamufissizaawo obudde bwe baba baagala abafaanane mu ngeri yonna eyogeddwako waggulu.

Kino bwe kitakolebwa obuvunaanyizibwa abazadde ne babukwasaabantu abalala, omwana oyo abeera ndabirwamu y'abo be yaweebwa era mwakulidde. Ekisaakaate kya Nnaabagereka (UK)

3-4 June 2022

In 2019, Nnaabagereka Sylvia Nnaginda relaunched Ekisaakaate kya Nnaabagereka UK (previously launched in 2015). The 2019 programmes took place in South London and in Manchester. The plan was to hold Ekisaakaate on an annual basis but then the world was hit with Covid-19 pandemic, like so many aspects of our lives, the programme was put on hold.

Due to uncertainties that surrounded the return to 'normality', the organising committee decided that we hold a two-day virtual Kisaakaate for 2022.

We would like to thank all those who took part (Abasaakaate) in this year's Kisaakaate (UK) programme and all the volunteers (Abagunjuzi) for giving up their time to give talks and to run the following sessions.

Preparing Kiganda Food (Okutegeka Emmere Ennjanda) – In this session, Nnalongo Justine Nalubwama & Mrs Hope Nakaweesa Kabugo taught participants how to prepare kiganda dishes from taking them through all the processes of kuwaata emmere, okugisiba, okugifumba n'okugijjula wamu n'okutegeka oluwoombo.

Art & Craft (Eby'Emikono) - Richard Ntege taught about preservation of the environment, making music and music instruments (Okukuuma obutonde bw'ensi, eby'ennyimba n'okukola ebivuga).

Career Development (Okwetegekera Okukola) - Edith Namugga Kaggwa taught about how personal development starts in the home school before it is sharpened in external educational institutions. We learnt that education received at home is that which helps a child to compete with the best and thrive in life.

Financial Intelligence (Eby'ensimbi) - Ssaalongo Geoffrey Kibuuka taught participants as young as 5 years of age how to manage their finances - a subject that is not commonly taught in schools. Some of the learning outcomes were an insight even to the parents such as helping a child to build a financial track record by paying some of the household bills and many more.

Knife Crime (Ettemu ly'obuso) - Richard Ntege emphasised that knife crime mostly affects the black African communities in the UK. Participants were reminded the importance of communication and having healthy relationships within the families, creating an atmosphere where children can share challenges faced outside of the home.

The Impact of Covid-19 on Mental Health (Engeri Ssennyiga Lumiiimamawuggwe gy'akosezaamu abantu baffe) - Baker Kiyingi and Mr William Nkata highlighted how the crisis of the lockdowns has impacted young lives both in positive and negative ways. Much emphasis was put on mental health and wellbeing and how families should pay more attention to dialogue and creating spaces for communication through 'Muzzanjanda'.

Personal Hygiene (Okweyonja) – Mrs Elizabeth Ntege taught participants on how to look after themselves from head to toe; the hair, the eyes, the teeth, the armpit, body hair and nails. The bed and small clothes, the skin and beauty.

In his closing remarks, Dr. Jeff Sebuyira Mukasa - Chairman of Nnabagereka Foundation commended the efforts the participant, parents and the organising committee put in for organising Ekisaataake (UK) 2022. He remarked that it gave him great pleasure to see that Richard Ntege – an Alumni (Naliyo) is now a key person in organising Ekisaakaate.

Dr Sebuyira Mukasa delivered greetings from Her Royal Highness Nabagereka Nnaginda and a message to say the HRH Nnaabagereka was very happy that the fire that was lit in 2015 Ekisaakaate kya Nnabagereka (UK) is still burning and hoped that we will have many more camps to benefit Ugandans living in the UK.
