Introducing RETIRED WONDER WOMAN

Has-Been Superhero & Strolling Comedian

Live, Interactive Entertainment

Much more than cosplay, RETIRED WONDER WOMAN is a free-range comic who brings her routine directly to the people, wisecracking with anyone and everyone who crosses her haphazard path.

HERstory

Born into royalty on an island of fierce, independent women as equally renowned for their superhuman abilities as their freakishly synchronous menses, RETIRED WONDER WOMAN spent her youth dreaming of TV stardom. But alas when it came time to cast the lead role in a series about her life, the job went to mammarily-gifted beauty queen Lynda Carter.

One dozen rehab stints and 5,632 bingo games later, RETIRED WONDER WOMAN is back and once again ready to save the world with her rapid-fire quips, ceaseless dedication to character and mad selfie skills.

Featured on AGT

In 2017, RETIRED WONDER WOMAN appeared on America's Got Talent where the producers liked her so much they booked her for a cameo in the season finale.

Don't Let Her Age and Infirmary Fool You

Make no mistake, RETIRED WONDER WOMAN has the power to transform any event into an affair to remember. Hire her now...before she goes down for her nap!

Played by an award-winning former network news reporter and US Navy veteran, Retired Wonder Woman nabbed first place at the 2014 Rose City (Portland) Comic Con costume competition and has been featured in dozens of websites, podcasts and newspapers including USA Today. She has also appeared at the Hollywood Walk of Fame, the Philly Pride Parade and comic-cons from coast to coast. She is based in the Philadelphia area.
