A Thought From Pastor Wayne:

'Almost, but not yet.' This is a way of describing the time we live in. It is an 'in between' time. Advent reminds us of this.

As Jesus was humbly born in Bethlehem at the dawning of the first century, we recognize that God has come among us. This is the historical event that we celebrate in Christmas. The cultural celebration of "the most wonderful time of the year" misses the point. God so loved the world that He entered into our material and finite existence in order to lovingly rescue us from the effects of our sin.

But there is more to celebrate in Advent. There is an Advent that is still on history's schedule in his coming again. That Advent will be very different than the one we celebrate from history past. It will be a coming, not in the littleness of an infant, but in the power and glory and might of the reigning King of kings. Unlike his first advent, no one will mistake what is happening in his second coming.

Today, we live between these two Advents. It can feel like a long time of waiting until God shows up again. It is easy to feel like He is distant and, for now at least, we are apart from Him while we wait.

A little girl asked her father, "Daddy, can we play?" Her dad was in the middle of working on something at that moment.

He said, "I'm very busy at the moment. In about an hour, we can play."

"Ok," she said. "When you're finished, I will give you a great big hug."

She went to the door, then did a U-turn and came back to give her dad a big squeeze. "You said you were going to give me a hug after I finished," her dad said teasingly.

"I just wanted you to know what you have to look forward to!" the little girl said.

God wants us to know, through things like the celebration of his first coming at Christmas, how much we have to look forward to in his great second coming.

As you fellowship at parties, give gifts to each other and sing the songs of Christmas, may all of our celebration in this season of the year be that hug from God that causes us to look forward.

The Message paraphrase of Romans 8:18-21 reads like this...

"That's why I don't think there's any comparison between the present hard times and the coming good times. The created world itself can hardly wait for what's coming next. Everything in creation is being more or less held back. God reins it in until both creation and all the creatures are ready and can be released at the same moment into the glorious times ahead. Meanwhile, the joyful anticipation deepens."

For this reason, may your Christmas be merry!

GETTING TO KNOW YOU

Paul and Vilette Uhl

Paul and Vilette Uhl met on the 17th of January 2008 while working on Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines. Talk about the Love Boat!

Paul was the Youth Activities Manager, and Vilette was one of the Youth

Staff. A mutual friend started to drop some heavy hints on how they would be perfect for each other, and that is how they started to consider the possibility of becoming more than colleagues. They took it slow and easy, taking the time to get to know each other before becoming a couple. The last thing you want to do on a ship is become involved with someone you work with, and having no way out of the situation if it becomes awkward.

They worked on ships together for the next 2 years, getting engaged on an island in Vanuatu called Mystery Island. Paul had been asking Vilette repeatedly what she thought the mystery of Mystery Island was, so that when he asked her to marry him on that island, he started the proposal off with: "I have solved the Mystery of Mystery Island...God has sent you to me, will you marry me?"

They decided that Vilette will emigrate to the USA, although Paul was more than willing to move to South Africa. They were married in 2010 at The Chateau in Poconos. Newly married, they moved in with Paul's best friend for 3 months, until Paul could find a job and they could rent an apartment. Vilette was allowed to start working 8 months later when her Green Card arrived. They held separate jobs and a part time job together as Relief House Parents for Milton Hershey School. They bought a house. After 5 years they decided being without each other for the majority of the day did not make them happy, and they became full time House Parents at Milton Hershey School in 2014. The school serves underprivileged children, their mission is "To nurture and educate children to lead fulfilling and productive lives." Paul and Vilette were not blessed with their own children, but they continue to be a Mother and Father figure to 8 Elementary aged boys.

Life is grand, and both of them look forward to growing old together.
