

Texas Herp Haus Custom Cages

We build custom cages for reptiles in addition to our many turn-key reptile homes on display at the reptile expo today. We offer two options for custom builds.

We can build out your existing tank, cage, or enclosure. Just bring your enclosure to us today at the show or meet up with us after the show. We will take your enclosure back to our facility, complete the build, then return the enclosure to you at a pre-determined date and location.

OR

We can also purchase a standard tank for you. For example, if you wanted a custom tank built with a Zoo Med 18 x 18 x 24 terrarium, we would purchase the tank for you from our suppliers, complete the build and then return the custom-built tank to you. We do not charge any addition price above our cost for the purchase of the tank itself.

The enclosure will meet all industry standards for reptile safe habitats including the selection of materials used in the construction process. We make every effort to customize the enclosure to the specific animal species that the enclosure will contain. We have tons of options, such as plant grow lights, misters, reptile specific lighting & heat options. Our tropical enclosures come delivered as established bio-active meaning that the "clean-up-crew" is already established in the enclosure.

Mason is the primary builder of the enclosures and will discuss the design elements and materials with you prior to your build. However, Mason is still a high school student so there may be times (during school hours) that he is not immediately available to return a call, text, or email. However, Michelle is always available to talk or text if Mason is in class and will try to assist you.

Please reach out to either of us at the following email: herphaus@proton.me if you have any further questions or would like to discuss a custom cage. We are local to the Hot Springs, AR area so delivery dates and fees can be worked into the final contract.