MESSAGE BY
HIS EXCELLENCY WENDALL K. JONES,
AMBASSADOR OF THE BAHAMAS
TO THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Greetings:

The people of The Commonwealth of The Bahamas have a goodly heritage. Even before the abolition of slavery, there were frequent travels by boat of Bahamians helping to build the cities of The United States of America. Prince Williams a freed slave from Florida found The Bahamas to establish a Baptist church.

The historians of our time now recount the rich cultural and economic linkages between our two countries. We know of the ties of the Gullah Geechies of South Carolina whose traditions are the same as Bahamians. Then there were the artisans and domestic workers of The Bahamas who made New York their home, long before a few of them even signed the charter for the establishment of the city of Miami.

Many of our outstanding countrymen like the first black Bahamian actor Bert Williams who was followed many years later by Sidney Poitier made us proud with their outstanding performances.

In academia, W.E.B Dubois, a descendant from Long Cay in the Bahamas and James Weldon Johnson, writer of the American Negro national Anthem, whose mother was Bahamian, tell of the rich heritage. For these reasons and countless others, we are happy to celebrate that heritage. We are kith and kin to our American brothers and sisters.

Today, The Bahamas is a paradise for many, a growing Metropolis and an exemplar of what can be achieved through good governance. It is therefore my great pleasure to congratulate the people of Mount Vernon Seventh-Day Adventist Church for the celebration of Bahamian Heritage International.

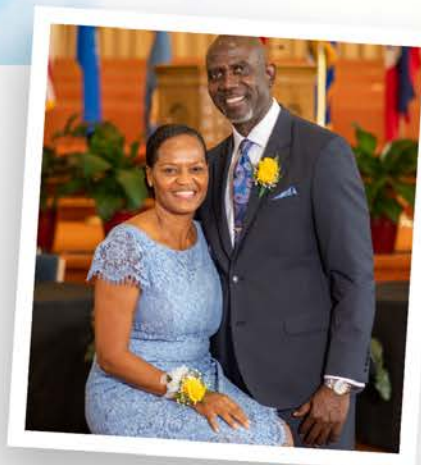

We give God thanks and praise for what He has done and continues to do in the empowerment of the Bahamian diaspora around the world and for the contributions they continue to make as global citizens. Whether it's in Religion, Academics or even in Athleticism, as a small country Bahamians have excelled and have a compelling story to tell.

It is my hope that this event will be an exciting educational experience and an inspiration to all who attend.

Wendall K. Jones
Ambassador

From

the Pastor's Desk,

There are various ways to measure the strength of a nation. Some may focus on things such as natural resources, economic wealth, and military power. While these are common yardsticks to measure a country's strength, allow me to add to this list, attributes like, service to God, the nation's value system, and the resilience of its people.

It is against the backdrop of the latter measuring tools mentioned above that I welcome you to this Bahamian Heritage International weekend of Celebration. The isles of The Bahamas, though small, continue to thrive in many ways not because of military prowess, but because of the God this nation serves and the resilience of its people.

God established the nations for His glory, and its people must find ways to express praise and thanksgiving to the Creator of all things, as often as we can. And so, it is for this purpose that Mount Vernon Seventh-day Adventist Church is pleased to open its doors to the Bahamian Diaspora in New York City, and the neighboring communities.

This weekend will be a wonderful blend of amazing worship to God, co-mingled with highlights of Bahamian history and culture. I believe that our time together will be memorable and spiritually rewarding. Initiatives such as these that are undergirded with Christian faith provide beautiful opportunities for nations to learn about each other, inspire one another, and find ways to work together for the good of humanity.

A warm thank you is extended to the Most Honourable Dame Cynthia A. Pratt, ON GCMG, the Governor General of the Commonwealth of The Bahamas, and the Honourable Shawn Patterson-Howard, Mayor of the City of Mount Vernon, for serving as Co-Patrons on this occasion. I am also grateful to our guest artist, Legato Vocal Ensemble, who will provide a fabulous Concert featuring original musical compositions and arrangements by Antonia Wilson-Carmona and other works of iconic Bahamian musicians.

May the blessings of this weekend linger with us into the distant future as we worship our Heavenly Father, and may God continue to bless the Commonwealth of The Bahamas.

T. Basil Sturup
Senior Pastor,
Mt. Vernon Seventh-day Adventist Church, NY.

GREETINGS FROM

THE BAHAMIAN AMERICAN ASSOCIATION INC. (BAAI)

Welcome! Music Ambassadors, Friends and Organizers of the Bahamian Heritage International Celebration in New York.

I join in celebration of the Bahamian Heritage International Celebration to be held here in New York City. This momentous gathering promises to be a living testament to the enduring strength, creativity, and unity of the Bahamian people at home in the Bahamas, here in New York and across the globe.

Music has always been the heartbeat of Bahamian culture - an art form that tells our stories, preserves our traditions, and inspires generations to come. Through Junkanoo rhythms, gospel harmonies, rake-and-scrape melodies, and contemporary Bahamian artistry, we are reminded that music is more than entertainment - it is a vehicle of identity, a bridge across oceans, and a force that binds our diaspora in shared pride. Your selection of music ambassadors from the Bahamas, the United States, and throughout the Caribbean diaspora reflects the power of this art to transcend borders while amplifying the spirit of one nation, one people.

Equally significant is the partnership of philanthropy, government, and community organizations in making this celebration possible. When culture and service walk hand-in-hand, the result is a legacy that not only honors the past but uplifts the future. This event exemplifies how cultural expression, coupled with civic commitment, strengthens communities, fosters educational opportunities, and unites us in common purpose.

No tribute to Bahamian heritage in New York would be complete without recognizing the Bahamian American Association, Inc., the oldest Bahamian organization in New York, if not the United States. For 113 years, the Association has been a steadfast guardian of Bahamian identity, culture, and fellowship. Its longstanding history of service, mentorship, and cultural preservation continues to be a beacon of pride for Bahamians in New York and beyond, ensuring that generations remain connected to their ancestral homeland while making invaluable contributions to American civic life.

As you gather to celebrate during this historic week, may the sounds of Bahamian music echo as a reminder of our resilience, creativity, and unity. May this celebration not only highlight the beauty of our heritage but also inspire the next generation to carry forward the rhythm of Bahamian pride wherever they may be.

With deepest congratulations and unwavering support, I salute all the organizers, sponsors, performers, and participants of this extraordinary international celebration.

THE FOUNDERS OF ONE Voice

The Story of Antonia & Allison: From Childhood Friends to One Voice

From the sunlit streets of Nassau, where music drifts as naturally as the ocean breeze, to concert halls across the globe, the journey of Antonia Wilson-Carmona and Allison Marrette Rolle is a living testament to friendship, faith, and the unshakable power of music.

They first met as schoolgirls at the same academy, two gifted vocalists whose voices seemed destined to blend. Whether lifting choirs, carrying solos, or inspiring audiences at school and community events, they discovered in each other not just a companion, but a kindred spirit. Music was their bond—a sacred language through which they encouraged one another, inspired others, and found their sense of calling.

Though their paths diverged, music never stopped weaving them together.

ALLISON'S JOURNEY: A LIFE OF SERVICE AND SONG

Allison's professional life has been marked by decades of distinguished service to the Bahamian people. She has held leadership and administrative posts in the Ministry of Education, the Registrar General's Department, and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, where she rose to Acting Chief Passport Officer. Most recently, she served as the Administrative Coordinator in the Office of the Academic Dean at the Bahamas Baptist University College, continuing her legacy of excellence and integrity.

Yet even with her professional achievements, Allison's heart remained anchored in music. A graduate of Oakwood University, she founded AMR Music Ministry to share her gifts and extend her ministry beyond the walls of the church. Her voice—rich, soulful, unmistakable—has resounded across The Bahamas and abroad, earning her two Marlin Awards, including Best Traditional Artist at the 28th Caribbean Gospel Music Awards. Her single "Abide"—produced by Antonia—stands as a moving witness to her faith, echoing the promise of Romans 8:28, "All things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are called according to His purpose."

Through it all, Allison treasures her roles as wife, mother, and grandmother. Her husband Roger remains her steadfast partner and greatest supporter, grounding her in love and faith.

ANTONIA'S JOURNEY: CRAFTING HARMONY FROM LIFE'S CHAOS

While Allison built a career in public leadership, Antonia immersed herself in the world of music. Raised partly in Brooklyn, she recorded her first solo as a child with the Mount of Olives Cherubs Choir. As a teen and young adult, she directed choirs, performed at weddings, and experimented with spontaneous arrangements—unknowingly shaping the artistry that would later define her career.

Described as one who can "take the chaos of life and turn it into harmonies and beautiful melodies," Antonia has become a songwriter, arranger, pianist, producer, educator, and performer of extraordinary versatility. Holding music and education degrees from Florida Memorial University and Florida International University, she has collaborated with gospel, jazz, and secular artists alike, leaving her imprint on diverse genres.

In 2003, she founded Legato Vocal Ensemble, a collective of gifted musicians dedicated to preserving Bahamian and Caribbean traditions. As Creative Artistic Director, she has produced internationally distributed recordings and philanthropic concerts that display island heritage while positioning the ensemble as a cultural ambassador.

Three years later, she launched Tight Tunes, Inc., equipping musicians with training in intellectual property, project management, and production. Under her leadership, Tight Tunes produced the 2024 One Voice Concert in Nassau—a signature event celebrating The Bahamas' 50th Independence Anniversary and endorsed by the Independence Secretariat.

Amid all of this, Antonia's family—her husband Harvey, their children, and grandchildren—remain her grounding force, reminding her that even as she builds bridges through music, her first ministry is love at home.

ONE VOICE: WHERE THEIR JOURNEYS CONVERGE

Though separated by geography, Allison in Nassau and Antonia in South Florida, the two never lost the harmony of friendship. Out of this enduring bond, One Voice was born—a collective rooted in faith, cultural pride, and the belief that music has the power to heal, unite, and preserve heritage.

Their debut came in 2024 with a landmark concert in Nassau, held during The Bahamas' 50th Independence celebrations. Directed by Antonia, the performance honored eleven iconic Bahamian musicians and united performers from The Bahamas and across the diaspora. It was more than a performance; it was a declaration that music is not only art, but also history, memory, and ministry.

Through One Voice, Allison and Antonia affirm that no matter where life leads—whether through the corridors of government, the halls of academia, or international stages—their shared love for God, country, and music will always bring them together.

A LEGACY IN HARMONY

Allison and Antonia's journey is more than the story of two women and their individual achievement. It is a celebration of friendship that has endured over decades, of faith that has carried them through trials and triumphs, and of music that continues to preserve a nation's heritage.

Their voices—distinct yet perfectly intertwined—remind us that music is never just sound. It is memory. It is ministry. It is movement. And through their lives, we hear a melody of purpose, resilience, and grace—a harmony destined to inspire generations to come.

Antonia is deeply-rooted in the enduring legacy of Salem, a Church which has proclaimed the immutable Gospel of Christ for over 130 years. ABOUT LEGATO VOCAL ENSEMBLE:

Legato Vocal Ensemble (LoVE) is a culturally rich and vocally dynamic group led by its primary ensemble in the United States, with a vibrant extension in The Bahamas that joins for special occasions. Though separated by geography, both groups are united by their love for God, music, and family—creating a powerful sound that transcends borders.

Founded by musical visionary Antonia “Ms. Toni” Wilson, LoVE brings together a diverse array of voices and personalities. Drawing inspiration from this rich blend, Ms. Wilson composes and arranges original works that stretch across genres—classical, gospel, rap, R&B, hip-hop, jazz, soul, and rock. Her hallmark is seamlessly weaving these influences into a distinctive, genre-defying sound that makes LoVE one of South Florida’s most versatile vocal ensembles.

The U.S. ensemble serves as the creative core, while the Bahamian members contribute cultural depth and vibrant energy during concerts and special projects. Together, they transform every performance into a joyful celebration of unity, heritage, and faith.

LoVE has graced stages internationally in Mexico, Spain, and The Bahamas, performing alongside renowned gospel and secular artists including Byron Cage, Earnest Pugh, CeCe Winans, Ben Tankard, and Barry Ivan White.

Their discography features standout collaborations such as No Man’s Land featuring Joss Stone and Jeff Beck, as well as two full-length projects—Me & Hymn and The Sower & the Seed featuring Joss Stone—all composed and arranged by Ms. Wilson. In 2023, their Christmas single If Jesus Was Born in Nassau Town (written by Audrey Florence Dean-Wright, arranged by Ms. Wilson) was nominated for Traditional Song of the Year by the Bahamas Gospel Music Awards.

Most recently, their Bahamian Wake Medley (by Antonia Wilson & Legato Vocal Ensemble, featuring Marguerite Samuel) won Outstanding Traditional Recording – Group or Duo at the 2025 Marlin Caribbean Gospel Music Awards.

Looking ahead, LoVE is preparing for an ambitious double CD release featuring both a cappella and fully orchestrated renditions of original works and beloved classics, including collaborations with Nestor Torres and Sisters in Song.

But LoVE is more than an award-winning musical group—it is a mission-driven ensemble dedicated to uplifting families, uniting cultures, and sharing God’s love through music. Their guiding motto—“Learn, Encourage, Give, Affirm, and Teach Others to LoVE” (LEGATO LoVE)—beautifully expresses the true heart behind the harmony.
