Grief during Covid-19

Matthew 5:4 reminds each of us that “blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted.” We know that losing a loved one, friend, or colleague at any time is a difficult journey. However, with the current COVID-19 crisis, dealing with grief is even more difficult and complex; those who love us the most cannot, in many cases, attend the funeral service or visit our home to check on us. As a result, you may experience feelings of guilt, lack of closure, and feelings of isolation. Please rest assured knowing that you are not alone in your season of grief. We want to let you know that your Antioch family has resources available to assist you and your family during your season of grief. With access to certified therapists, spiritual counselors, and grief support group leaders, we will walk with you every step of the way. If you have experienced a loss or know someone who has experienced a loss, please let us know. Our staff will work closely with you to setup a video conference call or any form of communication you prefer to assist you on this journey. During the call we will pray with you and assist with any needs you may have during this unprecedented time.
