★ Jefferson County Community Action Inc.

114 North 4th Street Steubenville, OH 43952

<http://jeffersoncountycac.org/>

(740) 282-0971

Description of Services

The Jefferson County Community Action Council, Inc. is a private non-profit organization, established in 1965 – one of a nationwide network of Community Action Agencies. As mandated by federal law, it is operated by a Board of Directors made up of one-third representation from the low-income sector; one-third governmental representation; and one-third private. The Chief Executive Officer, Michael McGlumphy, has served in his capacity since 2016.

Meeting the needs of Jefferson County residents will always be first priority for the CAC; collaboration with other community agencies has become one of the most efficient ways to accomplish this goal. Since the CAC competes for grants to fund its programming, it enjoys the flexibility of designing its services to fit community needs.

Most CAC services are offered to Jefferson County residents free of any charge. Programs are based on income-eligibility. All participation in programming is entirely voluntary.

★ Camp Piedmont

4-H Camp Piedmont is a full-service camping facility which promotes a wide variety of personal and environmental educational opportunities as well as social interaction in a natural setting. The camp is tucked away in the northwest corner of Belmont County along the shore of Lake Piedmont, opening in 1948 thanks to the efforts of the Eastern Ohio Extension Camps, Inc. and what is now known as the Muskingum Water Conservancy District. For more than 70 years, 4-H youth have spent the best week of summer at 4-H Camp Piedmont. The Ohio State University Extension 4-H programs in Belmont, Carroll, Guernsey, Harrison, Jefferson, Monroe, Noble and Tuscarawas counties all call 4-H Camp Piedmont home for overnight camps, day camps and a shooting sports camp. In addition to our 4-H programs, we host several church and school camps each year. Our facilities may also be rented for day, night and weekend use by outside user groups and families. Approximately 2,000 youth and adults camp annually at 4-H Camp Piedmont.
