FINDING WORDS FOR PRAYING USING SCRIPTURE Wednesday, September 18, 7:30pm, in person & online

Prayer is talking to God, but prayer is also listening for God.

How do we hear God speak?

How may God speak to us in ways we may not hear using our own words?

The ancients believed scripture was not just something to be read. They also believed God communicated to us through the words of scripture. And more. They believed using the words of scripture for personal prayer could make prayer revelatory communication with God beyond our own words alone (which can often be mere self-talk).

Out of ancient Christian mystical spirituality comes the practice of “praying the scriptures” or “Lectio Divina.” It involves four steps.

Join us Wednesday, September 18, 7:30pm, in person & online, as we learn this prayer practice and try it out together.
