INDIGENOUS SPIRIT GARDEN TOUR

A Congregational Event
Sunday, October 5, 4pm.

The Spirit Garden is an Indigenous cultural space for teaching, learning, sharing and healing for Indigenous people in Toronto.

It is open to the public and located in Nathan Phillips Square. It is run by Toronto Council Fire Native Cultural Centre.

The Spirit Garden includes a teaching lodge, Residential School Monument, sculptures and art reflecting diverse Indigenous teachings and traditions. For a more in-depth overview, visit the Spirit Garden webpage by CLICKING HERE.

Join us on Sunday, October 5, 4pm, for a guided tour of the Spirit Garden, and to meet with an Indigenous Elder who will open and close our time at the garden in a good way.
