

Brian Fraser is minister with Brentwood Presbyterian Church in Burnaby, BC. He is also the lead provocateur of Jazzthink Consulting where he uses the wit, wisdom, and workings of jazz to walk with people as they imagine how to compose their organizations and leadership to generate flourishing in contributing to well-being in all of the networks in which we enjoy possibilities to bless our world. Formerly, Brian was minister with Glebe Presbyterian Church in Toronto and lectured in church history at Knox College (1978-1985). He was Dean of St. Andrew's Hall and Professor of Church History at Vancouver School of Theology from 1985-2002, when he left and established Jazzthink. He began with Brentwood in 2009. They have developed extensive networks in the jazz community in Vancouver and beyond, doing weekly jazz services, commissioning sacred jazz suites, providing space for jazz musicians to rehearse, perform, and record, doing several benefits concerts a year for important local causes, and provoking conversations about the dynamics of jazz and spirituality.
