HOW CAN THE REAL CHRISTMAS STORY SHAPE YOUR CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION THIS YEAR?

For many of us Christmas is a most precious and special time of the year with traditions of celebration that have developed over many years. For others of us, Christmas has simply become much of what our popular culture have made it. But does any of this have genuine connection with the real Christmas story as the gospels tell it?

We may think we know the Christmas story and what it's about, but do we really? How has it been de-politicized and de-contextualized over the centuries to become more subservient to a materialist and colonizing agenda? Has Christmas become escapism rather than a time to step back, rest and awaken spiritually and practically? Can Christmas become a time to ground ourselves anew in what matters and can matter more in our lives in relation to the world around us and within ourselves?

Join us Wednesday, December 4, 7:30pm, in person and online as we engage in discussion of the gospel stories of Christmas and the sharing of ideas for what Christmas means and can mean for us as we plan our celebrations.
