Rustic & Live Edge Farm Tables & Bars

FAQ

1. Do your tables all look alike?

- a. All of our tables are made out of Red and/or White Oak. All of our tables are stained and finished using the same process. Additionally the design of our 8' (FT3696) and 6' (FT3672) farm tables are identical in design, except for the length. However, since wood is a natural product there are variances in the grain from board to board.

2. What is your reservation policy?

- a. Our reservation policy is: 10% to reserve the date. The balance is due 1 week prior to your wedding/event. You have up until that time to make changes to the amount of rentals.

3. Can I add or reduce the number of rentals, after I have reserved a date?

8. Do the bars have a service shelf or bar backer?

- a. The LEB bars have a service shelf 18" above the floor on the backside. None of the bars come with a backer, or extra folding table for drink products

10. What is the difference between a Live Edge Bar and Wine Barrel Base Bar?

- a. A live edge bar (LEB) has a full front using barnwood as a support. A wine barrel base bar is what it sounds like, using two wine barrels to support a live edge slab.

11. What is the difference between a Farm Table and Live Edge Farm Table?

- a. Farm Tables are all rectangular and either 96" in length (8 feet) or 72" in length (6 feet). Both models are 36" in width. A live edge farm table has identical base and apron, however the top is slightly thicker and varies in width due to being a natural edge slab. We strive to keep the width variances between 32"-36". These live edge farm tables are currently only available in a 6' length. The live edge farm tables are an excellent choice for a sweetheart table or cake/gift table.
