What this Notice is about

This Privacy Notice tells you what information we obtain and hold about you, whether you are initially instructing us for a 'find tenant only' or 'full management' service, it explains what information we collect, why we collect it, and what we do with it, as well as who we share it with. We collect and handle personal information about landlords and prospective landlords to enable us to provide residential accommodation and property management. This includes dealing with arranging residential lettings, property management (including dealing with repairs), rent collection, dealing with any complaints, maintaining our accounts and records, producing assured short hold tenancy agreements and administering tenancy deposits.

We call this information "your information". It is also referred to as "data".

Where this notice is given to more than one person, it is given to each of you separately.

You should read this notice when you give us information so you are aware of how and why we are using this. Please update us if any information supplied by you changes.

Why we are giving you this notice

We are required by data protection law to give you this notice. We must be open with you about why information is collected about you and then what is done with it. We must act fairly in relation to this information. You have various legal rights relating to this information, which are spelt out in more detail in this notice.

If you are already a landlord some of the items in this notice may not be relevant to you.

In order that we can collect or use information about you there must be a legal basis or gateway for doing so. This notice identifies the relevant gateway for the various types of information we collect and hold about you. A detailed explanation of these gateways is given in this notice.

Under data protection legislation, we can only process data “as necessary” and only to the extent that it is needed. For example, we can use your bank details regarding rental payments and other limited purposes only. However, in certain instances, as necessary, we can share any of your data, e.g. with our own professional advisers or letting and managing agents. We may also share any of your data, as necessary, with the police/law enforcement agencies or regulatory authorities for reasons such as money laundering.

The data we collect/hold about you

We use different ways to collect data about you including the information you supply to us when instructing us for the purpose of lettings. If you fail to provide this information, we may not be able to proceed.

As necessary personal data is processed by us (or by any letting/managing agent we retain) relating to landlords/prospective landlords consisting of the following as applicable: -

- Identity and contact details including car registration
- Personal/background information including occupation/status
- Bank details
- Tenancy details including your address, name of registered owners and contact details.
- Immigration/right to rent checks
- Rent and other payments including emailing monthly statement of accounts
- Council Tax liability
- Water charges payable

- Utilities and services provided
- Termination of terms of engagement
- Audio and CCTV recordings (if any)
- Complaints
- Insurance
- Health or disability
- Emails texts and other communications and via our website where we operate one.
- Website and online portal information.

We also generate and use data internally, e.g. our rent records.

We also collect and receive data about you from third parties. This may be information given to us by other tenants or residents or neighbours. Public bodies such as local authorities or the police, or other law enforcement agencies may give us information about you.

Information may be given to us relevant to Council Tax by the local authority. Utility companies or service providers may also give us personal information about you. We may also receive information from you via websites or from online rental portals such as Rightmove or Zoopla. Any information which we receive in this way is set out in the Table to this privacy notice which gives you more details about information which we can receive from third parties.

Sharing data with others

We will share information we hold with others, where this is necessary. When we do this, we must comply with data protection legislation. Information can be shared with contractors/suppliers; utilities and service providers; tradespeople; financial organisations (including banks and insurance companies); debt collection and tracing agents; public and government bodies (including those who administer benefits, such as the Department for Work and Pensions or the local authority); courts; police and law enforcement agencies; taxation authorities; local authorities in relation to Council Tax and regulatory functions; letting and managing agents; and any future owner of the property. We may need to share information with your next of kin etc., e.g. in an emergency. It may be necessary for us to share information with a future owner of the property if you the owner wishes to sell. We also may share information with professional advisers such as lawyers and accountants or an advice agency, which involves sharing information about you with them. In some cases, we may be under a legal obligation to provide information either because of the law or because of a contractual obligation binding on us. What we share will depend on what is necessary in the circumstances and more details are given in the Table in respect of different kinds of information, which we hold about you.

Search engines, websites, etc

As necessary, we obtain information about you, which is publically available via search engines such as Google or Facebook and websites. This will include information about you, which you yourself made public. Further details are set out in the Table. However, when doing so we make sure that we comply with applicable guidelines under data protection legislation.

Obligation to process data

Private renting is highly regulated so we are under various legal obligations. These include an obligation to carry out gas safety checks under gas safety legislation. We may need to handle data for this purpose, e.g. to give the contracted gas safety engineer access to the property. In line with Information Commissioner advice, we will pass over details of your occupancy to the relevant Water Company to enable them to collect water charges as it is in their legitimate interests to receive this information, this may be required during vacant periods between tenancies.

Legally we must also hold and process information relating to any tenancy deposit, which is paid to us and submitted to a deposit scheme. Your details in some cases may be provided on the prescribed information forms which must be legally provided to tenants.

Utilities

Again, in line with advice from the Information Commissioner we consider that it is in the legitimate interests of utility companies to receive information about occupants of the property to enable them to bill you for utilities during vacant periods between tenancies. We may share your information with our energy partner One Utility Bill (Spark Energy) to provide them with up to date meter readings when a new tenant takes occupancy.

Council Tax

Likewise, we notify local authorities of your occupancy relevant to the collection of Council Tax. In any event they are entitled to serve notice upon us requiring this information if they choose to do so.

Why we collect data and the legal basis for processing your personal data

We must tell you why we collect and hold information about you.

We must also have a legal basis before we are allowed to collect or process your personal data. Processing personal data includes recording, storing, altering, using, sharing or deleting data. We only need one of these “gateways” and for our purposes they are –

- You consent. Consent may be requested in certain cases.
- To perform our contract so that we can carry out our responsibilities under the terms of engagement with you, including anything you request us to do with a view to you becoming a landlord with us.
- Compliance by us with a statutory or other legal obligation.
- Where this is in your vital interests, e.g. if there is a life-threatening situation.
- Where we are pursuing our own legitimate interests or those of a third party. This will not apply if our interests are overridden by your interests or your fundamental rights and freedoms. We must carry out a balancing exercise therefore to decide whether we can rely on this gateway to ensure that it applies. In each case, we have done this and we do not consider your interests, rights or freedoms outweigh our own or those of the third party concerned.

This notice identifies the relevant gateway applicable in each case. In some cases, we will rely on more than one gateway depending on the particular purpose for which we are using your data.

Additionally, any data must be processed by us fairly and openly.

Why we process your data

The various purposes for which it may be necessary for us to process various categories of your information include: -

- Our legal obligation to check for money laundering.
- To perform our contract to complete the terms of engagement.
- In our legitimate interests to secure rental payments and process on to you the landlord. For contractual performance for rent collection and collection of other payments including banking details.
- For contractual performance for managing the tenancy and the property
- For contractual performance and/or in our legitimate interests for record keeping
- For contractual performance for arranging repairs and maintaining the condition of the property and keeping it in a safe condition.
- In our legitimate interests for administering liability for Council Tax
- Our legal obligation (in the Welsh Water area) or otherwise in our legitimate interests and those of the Water company for the payment of water charges
- In our legitimate interests and those of the provider relating to arranging and paying for utilities and services
- In our legitimate interests for processing complaints
- For contractual performance or in our legitimate interests for dealing with health and disability issues relating to tenants/residents
- In our legitimate interests for obtaining and holding audio and cctv recordings
- To perform our legal obligations to provide information to public or local authorities who are legally entitled to require this information
- In our legitimate interests for the storage of emails, records of calls and other communications
- In accordance with our legal obligations if you exercise your rights under data protection law
- To perform our legal obligations for compliance with legal and regulatory requirements
- In our legitimate interests for the establishment and defence of legal rights
- In our legitimate interests for prevention, detection and investigation of crime.

We may change the purposes where this is compatible for the purpose for which we obtained the data originally. If we need to use your data for a non-compatible purpose, we will notify you and explain the legal gateway that allows us to do so. We may process your information without your knowledge where this is required or permitted by law.

More information about what we do with data and why, along with the relevant legal gateway is given in the Table. This also tells you who we share data with and receive it from.

Retaining Communications

We will monitor, record and retain your calls, emails, text messages, social media messages and other communications. This is in our legitimate interests to maintain an accurate record of these. This may be necessary to manage your property. We need these records for our ongoing dealings with you, including our data protection obligations.

Length of storage of data

Data can only be stored on a time-limited basis and not indefinitely. We will hold personal data about you for the duration of your tenancy and for seven years after your contract has ended. This is the statutory limitation period six years plus a further year to allow for service of proceedings should proceedings commence later. We are also required to retain information for up to six years for tax purposes.

Storage and security of data

We have put in place appropriate security measures to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used or accessed in an unauthorised way, altered or disclosed. In addition, we limit access to your personal data to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need to know. They will only process your personal data on our instructions and they are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

All our information is stored securely electronically on servers or devices. Certain information is also retained on a secure basis in hard copy format.

Telephone calls

To protect our legitimate interests telephone conversations may be recorded electronically for monitoring and to ensure that we have a record of what is said. You or others may leave messages when calling.

Holding data outside the European Union

Our email account and web provider (if any) is the provider specified in the Table. Our email account is web based. Providers store related data internationally and not necessarily within the European Union. The recipient of this data is the provider concerned. You need to refer to the provider concerned to determine if they have the required clearance (adequacy decision) from the EU authorities or whether or not, instead, there is an agreement containing appropriate and suitable safeguards and to obtain a copy of this agreement.

Your rights

Where we hold personal data about you, you are the data subject. Data protection legislation gives you a number of rights. To exercise any of these rights you should contact us. You can do so by email at the address given above or you can telephone us on the number given above. You can also write to us at our address given at the top of this notice. Normally no fee is payable.

In particular, you have a right to object to the processing of your information where we are processing this in our own legitimate interests or those of someone else. This applies if you feel that this impacts on your own interests or your fundamental rights or freedoms.

These rights are as follows –

- Access – you have the right to make a request to be told what personal data we hold about you. This is a right to obtain confirmation that data has been processed and to have access to your personal data and the right to information details, which should be provided with the privacy notice.
- Correction/Rectification – if you consider any data we hold about you is inaccurate, you can tell us so that where appropriate this can be corrected. Where a mistake is made in data processing then you can ask to have it rectified. Any third parties who have received the data from us should then be told of the rectification and you should be informed by us of any such third parties.
- Erasure – you have a right to ask us in certain circumstances to erase any data we hold about you (the so called right to be forgotten). Individuals can request the right to have personal data erased to prevent processing in specific circumstances, i.e. it is no longer necessary, consent has been withdrawn, there is an objection and where applicable your rights etc., override the legitimate interests to continue our processing, or data has been unlawfully processed.
- You can object to our processing of data – this allows you to object to our processing of data about you. We must then stop processing data unless we can establish legitimate reason for continuing. In particular this applies where we are relying on our own legitimate interests or those of a third party to process data but it can also apply in other situations.

- Restricting processing – you can ask us to suspend processing of your personal data and we must then restrict processing of data. This includes where you are contesting the accuracy of a statement or the lawfulness of the processing.
- Data portability – this allows individuals to reuse their personal data for their own purposes across different services allowing them to move, copy or transfer personal data more easily.

Withdrawal of consent

Where your consent provides us with the legal gateway to process data about you, you can withdraw this at any time by telling us by email or post using the telephone/addresses given above.

Complaints

We operate our own internal complaints policy and if you have any concerns about the way in which we collect or handle data please contact us.

Additionally, you have the right to lodge a complaint with the Supervisory Authority who is –

TABLE

Introduction

About this Table

As necessary, we collect, use and otherwise process different categories of information (data) about you relying on the various legal gateways available to us, so that we can manage the property along with associated matters. This part of this notice gives you a general description of these processing activities for the different categories of information and the purposes for which we process your information. If you consider that we have not given sufficient details of what we do then you can make an access request for more information.

Background

Renting out residential accommodation and managing tenancies and rental properties is a multi-faceted. As landlords are at the centre of this service, we must process your data for a large number of different purposes. Data protection law requires us to give you information about these processing activities as concisely as possible. To do so we have split information about you into different categories, which is in line with requirements in the legislation. We also have to tell you the extent for which your information can be used and shared. Due to the nature of our business information falling into one category will be combined with information in other categories to be handled by us as permitted for the stated purposes under the relevant legal gateway, which we have to identify. For example, information about your identity/contact details will be combined with other categories of information to correctly identify you, e.g. when we compile our accounts or pass information about a repair over to a contractor so that they can deal with the problem at the property you rent. However, we only do this to the extent that it is necessary in the circumstances.

Expressions used

To make this Table as concise as possible we employ a number of expressions –

Handle information – collecting, compiling, using or storing information (data).

Use information – when we use information this means we consult it, compile it, refer to it to make a decision, or act on it, or combine it with other data. When using it in this way we may have to alter it.

Share data – this includes transferring data to someone else where this is necessary, or receive it from a third party.

Collect data – this is where we receive information from you.

Compile data – this is where we use information about you which we have collected to generate information about you, e.g. our rent payment records or repair records.

Altering Data

We are required by data protection legislation to keep your information up to date and it is of course in our own legitimate interests to do so for us to ensure that we have accurate records.

Storing Data

We keep information both electronically and in a manual filing system to maintain our records. We do this because we need to use it from time to time. Normally the legal gateway permitting us to do so which will apply will be the same as applies when we use the data. Additionally, however, there are legal obligations to retain data under data protection law, taxation legislation and housing law. We also need to do so to fulfil our contract with you. In our own legitimate interests, we also need to retain information to deal with enquiries or disputes and for audit purposes.

Destruction of Data

We delete/destroy data once it is no longer needed. This is a requirement of data protection law. This notice tells you the period for which we normally store data.

What this Table tells you

Information is handled as necessary from time to time. As already stated, information falling under one category can be amalgamated with or added to information in another category in order to carry out the stated purposes.

Part 1 of this Table tells you, depending on the relevant category of your information, what our processing activities are and what is the legal gateway permitting processing as well as the purpose for which we carry out these processing activities.

Where the legal gateway in question is our own legitimate interests (or those of a third party) we identify the relevant legitimate interests.

Details about sharing data are set out in Part 2, whether we transfer it to someone else or receive from a third party.

Part 1 – Collecting, compiling, using and storing your information

In this Part we list out the different categories of your information, briefly explain them where needed, explain what we do with the information and why, as well as specifying the relevant legal gateway we rely on to do so.

We use the word “handle” to cover collecting, compiling, using or storing this information.

Identity and contact details

1. This includes name, contact details, date of birth and national insurance number
2. We handle this information in order to enter into the tenancy agreement and subsequently to manage the property. This is done to perform the contract.

Bank details

1. This includes details of your bank, building society or other paying organisation, including those operating digitally/online.
2. We handle this information in order to process payments to you. This is done to perform our contract.

3. We also handle this information if we seek to make recovery from you of unpaid debt. This is in our own legitimate interests. These are to recover what is due to us.
4. We also handle this information as part of our verification including to protect against money laundering. This is in our own legitimate interests.

Deposits

1. This includes the amount of a deposit, who pays it and in what shares and the steps taken to protect the deposit.
2. We handle this information to deal with the deposit received and to administer the deposit. This includes handling information about persons who contribute towards the deposit who are not a tenant. This is done both for contractual performance and to ensure compliance with legal obligations relating to handling deposits under the Deposit Protection Legislation. This is to secure payment of the rent and compliance with tenancy obligations.
3. We also handle deposits at tenancy termination and this is dealt with under that section.

Rent and payment collection

1. We keep this information in order to compile correct and up to date records. This is done for contract performance.

Repairs/housing standards/health and safety

1. This includes condition surveys, inspection reports, reports of repairs required and information about actions taken. This extends to conditions and standards generally at the property including health and safety, e.g. gas safety.
2. We handle this information to ensure that the property and its contents are properly maintained. This is done both for the purposes of contractual performance and, where applicable, to comply with our legal obligations.

Council Tax liability

1. Notification is given to the local authority in relation to landlord liability for Council Tax. This can include information about the period of occupancy as well as former and subsequent addresses.
2. We handle this information in order to ensure that the liability for Council Tax is dealt with correctly. This is done to protect our own legitimate interests and those of the local authority. These are for the correct billing and collection of Council Tax and to ensure that we do not have to meet Council Tax liability ourselves where this is not appropriate.
3. In the event of the local authority serving a statutory notice we then we must supply this information to comply with our legal obligations.

Water charge payments

1. This relates to notification to a water company of the landlords who are liable for vacant periods of occupancy and it can include previous and subsequent addresses. It also relates to communications between ourselves and the water company concerned.
2. We handle this information to establish liability for water charges in our own legitimate interests and those of the water company concerned. This is to ensure that legal liability for payment of water charges is correctly established and discharged.

Utilities and other service providers

1. We arrange and establish liability for payment of gas and electricity consumed at the property and any services, which are provided, e.g. Broadband or cable tv. These services may be provided as a requirement under the tenancy agreement. It includes communications about changes of tenants, interruptions and disconnection of supply and work to be carried out in connection with utilities and services such as the installation of smart meters/replacement meters.
2. We handle this information in order to arrange provision of utilities and services and ensure that the correct liability for relevant charges is established and that these are paid for. This is done in our own legitimate interests and those of the utility company/provider concerned. These are to ensure utilities and services are provided and that liabilities are paid.

3. We also handle this information in order to deal with breakdowns, interruptions and disconnections and to ensure that the appropriate quality of service is provided. This is done in our own legitimate interests. These are to ensure that requisite utilities and services are available and are provided at the property.

Complaints

1. We operate a complaints procedure, which may be informal. Although we will do all we can unfortunately sometimes things go wrong so complaints may arise.
2. Information handled concerns complaints which you may make or which may be made on your behalf. These will give rise to communications and records being compiled by us.
3. We handle complaints with a view to resolving these, although this might involve external intervention, e.g. by the courts.
4. We handle complaints for contract performance. This is also done in our own legitimate interests. These are to protect ourselves against claims and to ensure that the complaints are properly resolved.

CCTV and Audio

1. If we operate cctv you will be given information about this. We may operate cctv to cover common parts or the exterior of the premises.
2. We may also hold audio recordings, e.g. messages from you on telephone answering machine or mobile phone.
3. Where cctv is operated this is for the safety and security of the premises in question and for the prevention and detection of crime and anti-social behaviour, as well as monitoring tenancy obligations. This is done in our own legitimate interests. These include the protection of our property and ensuring compliance with tenancy obligations as well as the safety and security of tenants, residents and neighbours.
4. We handle audio recordings to assist with accurate record keeping. This is done for contract performance or in our own legitimate interests. These are to ensure that we have reliable records of communications.

Correspondence etc

1. Correspondence includes all ways in which we receive communications from whatever source. This includes emails, text messages, social messaging and messages, letters and documentation. This can include photographs and other visual recordings.
2. We handle these communications initially relating to entering into the tenancy agreement and then for the management of the tenancy and the property, as well as associated matters arising under the various categories of information referred to in this Table. This is done for contractual performance where applicable, to carry out any applicable legal obligations imposed on us, to protect your vital interests, or in our legitimate interests. These legitimate interests are to ensure that we have the necessary information relating to these matters and for accurate record keeping.

Websites and online platforms

1. Information about you is available in the public domain, often put there by you. This can be accessed by appropriate searches, which allow for access to the websites, which hold this information.
2. Information about you is also made available when you access online platforms, e.g. to enquire about properties which are available for renting.
3. We handle information received via our online platforms for contract performance, including arranging lettings and entering into tenancy agreements.

Insurance

1. We insure the buildings and may insure contents belonging to you. We may also insure against public liability, including liability to yourself for injuries and rental insurance, in the event of rent arrears or other tenancy default.
2. We handle information about you, which may be relevant to our insurances to arrange cover, to administer insurance contracts, to renew insurances and to make claims. Contractually we are under certain duties.
3. It is your responsibility to insure your property. You may seek information from us relevant to arranging such insurance or making claims. We handle this information and will do so with your consent, which is provided as part of your request for any assistance or information.

Flat management

1. This applies in particular where the property is a flat. This flat will be held by us under a lease or subject to other contractual arrangements, which will set out various responsibilities for the upkeep, insurance etc., of the block including common areas. The lease or other arrangements place contractual obligations on us, which in turn may be passed on to you under the terms of the tenancy.
2. We handle information about you in order to carry out our responsibilities under these leases/arrangements. This is done in our own legitimate interests and in the interests of the freeholder etc., of the block to ensure that respective obligations are properly performed.

Part 2 – Sharing Information

Introduction

We share your information with various persons, organisations and public authorities as necessary. This involves us either transferring your information to others or collecting it from them, depending upon the circumstances. This Part of the Table gives you details about this. It can be a two-way traffic between ourselves and others. In some instances, we may collect information about you from someone else following a request by us to them to provide this information.

Where we collect information from others (third parties) we have to tell you the source of this information, whether or not it is publically accessible, the nature of the source (i.e. whether it is publically or privately held) and the types of organisation from whom the information is obtained. Where possible we need to name the source as well but often this cannot be done. The required details appear in this Part of the Table.

Where information is received from a private person/body or a public authority, this information will not normally be publicly accessible, however in some instances it will be. Information which will be publically accessible will be information such as Council Tax bandings and information available in public registers, e.g. registers of births and other available public registers.

We share identity and contact details with all persons, organisations/authorities referred to below. This category of information is linked with the other information in every category for the purposes and under the legal gateway specified under each of the other categories of information. This is to ensure that you are correctly identified and, if need be, can be contacted.

A – Sharing of certain categories of your information

We share certain categories of your information (both transferring it to them and collecting it from them as necessary) with private persons/organisations and public authorities as necessary.

In Section B we go onto explain that, as necessary, certain private persons/organisations and public authorities can share any of your information (irrespective of its category).

Table 1 below identifies the different categories of your information and specifies the private persons/organisations/public authorities with whom these different categories of your information are shared as necessary. This Table should be read in conjunction with Table 2 (private persons/organisations) and Table 3 (public authorities). Tables 2 and 3 explain why we share your information with these persons/organisations/public authorities and the legal gateway, which allows this to happen.

Depending on the category of data concerned you should also refer to that category under Part 1 above because the purposes set out for which we handle data and the legal gateway for doing so also usually apply when we share data with others.

Table 2 – Private persons/organisations

Categories of persons /organisations	Purpose and legal gateway
---	----------------------------------

Other landlords/employers	To obtain references. This is to ensure suitability for a tenancy in our own legitimate interests. We also provide information to prospective landlords in their legitimate interest to assist them in evaluating suitability for a tenancy/residency. These interests are to ensure that properties are let to reliable tenants/residents. Where the property is subject to selective licensing there is a legal obligation for new landlords to obtain references before they let.
Contractors/tradespeople/service suppliers	Assisting in carrying out our responsibilities under the tenancy agreement and for the management of the tenancy and the property for contractual performance. In certain cases, this is also to comply with our legal obligations in relation to housing conditions and health and safety, e.g. gas, electrical and fire alarm maintenance and inspection. We will also provide your contact details to contractors etc., to facilitate access to the property for contract performance. On occasion we will arrange for inspections in our legitimate interests. This is so that we can deal with complaints and pursue/defend claims.
Utility companies and service providers	Arranging for utilities/services and establishing liability for payment along with administering their supply in our own legitimate interests and those of the provider. This is to ensure utilities/services are provided and that liability is correctly established. Utility companies also have certain statutory obligations to perform, e.g. metering. They are in the legitimate interests of the utilities/service providers to ensure that they can effectively carry out their various activities.
Credit reference agencies	We request and consider credit and other referencing relating to deciding on the suitability of tenants and residents for a tenancy. This is in our own legitimate interest to ensure that we let to reliable tenants/residents. This may include the Residential

	Landlords Association who undertake on behalf of their members with Call Credit.
Debt collects/tracing agents	To trace you or make a claim in our legitimate interests. These are to enforce our legal rights.
Joint tenants/residents	Management of the tenancy and the property for contractual performance. Additionally, in our own legitimate interests and those of joint tenants/residents where there are arrears of rent or other payments due or breaches of the terms of the tenancy agreement as they are either jointly liable for performance or non-performance could adversely impact on their continued residence at the property. The legitimate interests are to protect our own property interests and to enforce our rights.
Guarantors	Management of the tenancy and the property for contractual performance. We also inform guarantors of claims and liabilities for contractual performance of the guarantee. It is in our own legitimate interests and those of the guarantor to give and receive information relating to non-performance of tenancy obligations including non-payment of rent and other payments. Our interests are to protect our property interests and to enforce our rights and the guarantor's interests are so that the guarantor is aware of possible liability under the guarantee.
Next of kin etc.	To make contact with them in the event of an emergency to protect your vital interests.
Insurers	To arrange public and other liability insurance and rent insurance and to make claims. This is in our legitimate interests and the insurers legitimate interests. These are making sure that appropriate insurance is arranged and the policies are correctly administered. Under the terms of policies, we are required contractually to provide information to insurers.
Banks, lenders and property lawyers	Where we have loans, information regarding tenancies must be provided to arrange and administer loans. This is in our own legitimate interests to finance our business. Contractually they are entitled to your information. In the case of banks information about you can be shared for the purposes of administering rental and other payments for contractual performance. Your information can also be shared for the purposes of preventing and detecting money laundering and fraud. This is in our own legitimate interests and those of the bank in order to detect crime. Contractually we may be required to provide information regarding insurance cover to banks etc. providing us with loans. This is in our legitimate interests to ensure compliance with the loan conditions and in the interests of the bank etc. to see that appropriate insurance cover is in place.

Neighbours, other tenants and residents	The management of the tenancy and the property. This includes information relating to complaints including alleged breaches of the tenancy agreement and anti-social behaviour, as well as the abandonment of the property. It can include car registration information. This is in our own legitimate interests to protect our property rights and to enforce compliance with the terms of the tenancy. It is also in the legitimate interests of neighbours for their enjoyment of their own properties and to protect their property, interests and rights.
Flat freeholders, managing agents etc., where the property is a flat.	The management of the tenancy and the property. Under leases/other contractual arrangements they are entitled to certain information, e.g. who occupies the flat and the terms of such occupation. Further, consents/permissions may be required relating to the tenancy for the carrying out of alterations or works or your information may be relevant to repairs. This is done in our own legitimate interests. These are to ensure we comply with our own contractual obligations. Additionally, there may be complaints involving breach of the terms of these leases/other contractual provisions connected with nuisance, non-compliance with leases/other arrangements or anti-social behaviour. Consequent upon this information may be shared in our own legitimate interests or those of the freeholder, managing agent etc., concerned. This is to ensure compliance with our own contractual legal obligations and/or for the management of the block.

Web sites, portals etc.	Undertaking searches and obtaining publically available information relevant to your suitability for a tenancy/residency and relating to the management of the tenancy and the property. This is undertaken in accordance with applicable data protection law and guidance and subject to data protection principles. In connection with your application for a tenancy, we may receive information via any online portal involved for contractual performance.

Table 3 – Public Authorities

Home Office	Immigration/right to rent checks for the performance of our legal obligations
Benefit authority	The administration of benefits such as Universal Credit (by the Department for Work and Pensions) and the housing benefit/local housing allowance by the local authority. This includes applications to them for direct payment of benefit to ourselves. It extends to claims by them for overpayment where we receive direct payments. This is for contractual performance and/or in our legitimate interests to ensure that we collect rent and that amounts properly due to us are received.
Deposit body	Under housing legislation we are required to protect any deposit which you pay in connection with the tenancy. We will pay this into a custodial scheme which holds the money. We have to register the deposit with the deposit body concerned. This is to comply with our legal obligations. During the course of the tenancy it may be necessary to give details of any changes to the deposit body to comply with our legal obligations. On the termination of the tenancy for contractual performance we must arrange for the return of the deposit in whole or in part depending on whether there are any claims on it or not by us. In the event of disputes these can be submitted to adjudication in which case it is necessary for information to be provided to the deposit body concerned (and its adjudicator) in our legitimate interests to pursue or defend claims. This is also contractually required under the rules of the scheme.

Educational institutions	Information relating to non- payment of rent, breach of tenancy terms, nuisance or anti-social behaviour may be shared with educational institutions where you are studying. Educational institutions can operate complaints schemes in conjunction with landlords of student properties. This can include information about tenancy terminations. This is in our own legitimate interests to protect our property interests and our rights and in the interests of the educational institution concerned to oversee the conduct of their students.
Taxation authorities	These are HM Revenue and Customs and (in the case of Council Tax and Council Tax reduction schemes) local authorities, as well as any other public authority having power to levy taxes or charges. We are required by law to make appropriate returns to comply with legislation imposing taxes etc. In the case of Council Tax this is required where statutory notice to that effect is served on us. Otherwise, we share information with the local authority relating to Council Tax in our own legitimate interests to ensure that Council Tax is correctly administered and in the legitimate interests of the local authority to collect information for the same reason.

B – Private persons/organisations/public authorities with whom any information is shared

As necessary, we share all of your information (irrespective of its category) with certain private bodies/organisations/public authorities. This includes transferring your information to them and receiving it from them. These are

Category of person/organisation/public authority	Purposes and legal gateway
