What a season!!! Needing a win to advance to the Super Bowl round, the DiamondBacks went into the Monday night game needing 38 point to win over the Who Dats. His running backs came up with 37. Hence, a tie. The tie pushed the Slobberknockers into the Super Bowl tournament and the DiamondBacks waiting till next year.

In a late Bubba League Playoff run, the Slobberknockers have made it to the Super Bowl semi finals joining the Dirty Pampers. The RoadKill Gang's bid for back to back Super Bowl wins was halted by a hot Moss and a bad Monday night performance by his Green Bay contingency. The Slobberknockers joined the Grove Rats in their attempt to be the first two time winners of the Bubba League Trophy while the Dirty Pampers and VA Gents try for their first championship.

In the other bracket, the Who Dats continued their pattern of scoring many points, but not enough to not advance to the Finals of the retched Toilet Bowl. Newcomer Red Raiders is the opponent.

Going into Monday night's game, the Grove Rats appeared to be in the driver seat to make the Super Bowl final. But as the 49ers stayed on the ground, the Rats chances went down the drain, losing his opportunity by four points. The Terrell Davis curse continued as for the third straight BUBBA League year, the team with TD did not make it to the final game.

Crusty veteran Slobberknocker takes on 1st timer Virginia Gentlemen for the 98 crown.

All was not "lost" in the Gattis household as the Red Raiders, with the help of the old man, "captured" the Toilet Bowl trophy. Claiming the distinction, the Rats and Raiders are the first father and son tandem to have a Toilet Bowl trophy in their possession. Maybe we need to retire it to the Grove.

Finally, the Gents win!!

Christmas Wish List - 1998

Who Dats - Good luck.

Relentless Punishers - Robert Smith and Andrew Glover to have a Minnesota player at every position.

Red Raiders - More time.

Diamond Backs - One more point.

Knuckleheads - See Red Raiders.

RoadKill Gang - A number 2 pick next year.

Dirty Pampers - Weekly fantasy football newsletter.

Grove Rats - 100 more yards from Steve Young

Slobberknockers - Luck like this year. He drafted Kordell Stewart with his #1.

Virginia Gentlemen - Another set of RB's like Jamal Anderson and Marshall Faulk.
