

GIVING BACK TIME THAT WAS STOLEN

“This isn’t just my story - it’s the story of every survivor who has ever felt powerless, unheard, or forgotten.
But together, we can rewrite the narrative. With your support, The Story of The Time Thief will become more than just a memoir - it will become a lifeline.
A voice for those still trapped in their past. A light for those searching in the dark.
A rebellion against the silence that tried to erase us.

Help me remind survivors of who they are - who they have always been.
Before the trauma. Beyond the survival. They are not the pain that happened to them.
They are resilience. They are light. They are hope. They are the long-awaited heroes of their own story, and by stepping into their greatness, they will help to uplift others.

I will guide them in remembering this - but remembering isn’t enough.
They need to hear it. To feel it. To see it.
And I can’t do this alone.

Your support will turn this memoir into a movement - one that reaches into the darkness and pulls survivors back into the light of their own power.

Help me give back their time that was stolen.”
