Meeple University and Dice Tower

In board game-land, there aren't that many names better known than the Dice Tower, and one of their best contributors is Meeple University. They are producing a How to Play AND a Stella Short and Sweet video, and we'll get some space on both the Meeple University and Dice Tower channels. Informative and fun -- I guess that's why they are a university.

Little Rock Games

Who knew Central Arkansas had such great game designers? We met with LR Games last week, and over pizza shared thoughts, plans, trials and tribulations. They have some neat products in both the board game and digital markets, and we can't wait to meet with them again soon to continue the conversation. Check out their new dog rescue simulator!

Board Game Revolution

You've probably seen BGR in your social media feeds. They have some neat marketing techniques to get noticed, and we have partnered with them to do giveaways and social media pushes.

L'École du Jeu

We are happy to report that French speakers will have video content aimed at them! Our friends at L'École du Jeu in Quebec agreed to do some awesome French content, and they even took JAQ to a local convention. They thankfully got really good feedback about the game!

Origins

We are going to Origins Game Fair in Columbus, Ohio on June 8-12! Stop by booth 1162 and show us you backed us, and you'll get a cool sticker, and those that do more than the minimal dollar backing will get a cool Hydra pin! Also, if you follow Origins on social media or are on their mailing list, look for our upcoming ads, which will start with the subject of this email.

Thanks for following us and joining our journey!
