Care and Cleaning

If cleaning is required, gently wash your Grill with a sponge using mild, environmentally friendly soap and water. Do not use bleach, chemicals, abrasive cleaners or wire brushes when cleaning your cooking pit. Do not use power washer. After cleaning, rinse well and allow to air dry.

To repair any scratches, nicks or chips on the exterior surface, use a matching touch-up paint that is suitable for metal, outdoor and high temperature use.

Cleaning and care of the Cooking Grate.

After cooking, allow any accumulated residue to burn off. This reduces the amount of cleaning required for the grill and inside of the cooking pit. Once the fire and embers have died down and cooled off, gently brush any loose particles from the grate with a grill brush. Do not attempt while the grate is hot! Let it cool first. For a more thorough cleaning, you can use a mild soap and water and gently scrub the grate with fine steel wool.

Remove ashes from the bottom of the Ash Tray.

It is important to remove the accumulated ashes from the ash tray when they are cool. Ashes absorb moisture and may promote premature rusting and will also prevent the proper air flow required for grilling.

Some Parts and Features

The holes here can be used to hold skewers in a standing position, so the skewers won't fall off while grilling.

The top ring helps hold the skewers upright.
