~~Fire Wife~~ Chronicles

TUESDAY

Today we pray for training and preparation. As he continues to train for the many incidents he will come in contact with - we pray that these skills would stay etched in his mind. Give him the strength to learn and perform the many necessary skills that firefighters must learn and execute.

FRIDAY

Today we pray for the children of first responders. Help them to grow up knowing the importance of helping others and making sacrifices. Help them to know that every time daddy misses holidays, first soccer games, and big milestones - that he is there in spirit. May we always teach our babies to respect their community heroes.

WEDNESDAY

Today we pray for his faith. Whether it be coming in contact with a rape or attempted suicide victim - Lord, please give him the words he needs to calm someone's spirit and be a light in a very dark time. Please give him the strength he needs to be a light to his co-workers. Please help him to turn to God when he feels as though the heaviness of the world is on his shoulders.

SATURDAY

Lord, today we lift up fire marriages. While we know the divorce statistics are high in fire families, we also know that You can use our struggles for good. We know that You can use the nights apart to make us appreciate one another more. Please help us to keep the flame burning bright in our marriage and to put our relationship with You as a top priority.

MONDAY

Today we pray for safety on the job - whether he is performing CPR, is at a dangerous HAZMAT incident, is rescuing someone as he repels down a building or bridge, or as he's running into burning buildings - we pray for safety over him. Give him the strength and clarity he needs to work around the clock.

THURSDAY

Lord, today we pray that our firemen would be a light to those he helps - whether it's at the hospital, at someone's home, or at a major event or incident he responds to. Help him to be that ray of hope or calming presence that people are desperately searching for.

SUNDAY

Today we pray for all first responders. Lord, may the bond between all first responders remain strong. We pray that you would place a hedge of protection around our community heroes. Give them the wisdom they need to make split-second decisions. Please give them the strength they need to run towards danger while others run from it.
