A lot of you already know Dasher, a cheerful little guy with the sweetest spirit and the biggest heart! Despite everything he's been through, he remains happy, affectionate, and full of love

Since his first femoral surgery, Dasher has been recovering beautifully. He's comfortable, content, and still the same joyful, gentle boy we've come to adore! With his follow up appointment approaching and a second surgery expected within the month, our team has spent a lot of time discussing what's best for him. We truly believe this is Dasher's time to find his forever family

Not because his journey is finished, but because we believe he deserves to begin life with his forever family now, even as he continues to heal.

Dasher's forever family will play an important role in supporting him through the remainder of his recovery, including attending upcoming veterinary appointments and caring for him through and following his second femoral surgery. Our team will be there to support Dasher and his adopters every step of the way. A calm, patient home and a consistent routine will help this sweet boy continue healing comfortably.

Outside of his recovery needs, Dasher is an absolute joy! He's gentle and well mannered in the home, loves people, does wonderfully with other dogs, and is 99.9% house trained. He settles easily and brings such a warm, steady presence and unbreakable spirit!

If you are someone who understands that some of the strongest bonds are formed while walking through healing together, Dasher is ready to find his forever
