Our lovely Lou from the Heartland litter is back in our care and hoping to find her perfect match!

At 10 months old, Lou has grown into one incredibly intelligent, affectionate girl who has so much to offer the right person.

Lou absolutely loves having something to do! Whether it's exploring on a walk, practicing her skills or working through a puzzle, she's happiest when her mind and body are kept busy. And once she's had her exercise, she's more than happy to relax and enjoy some downtime.

Her previous family put an incredible amount of love and effort into her training, and she's got some wonderful skills to show for it! She's also been doing great in her foster home, where she's continuing to learn and make progress every day.

Lou does have some specific needs, and finding the right home for her is especially important.

She has a strong prey drive and a history of incidents involving small animals, so she'll need a home without cats, small pets or poultry. An adult only home is preferred, as Lou can get over excited around young children.

Lou has enjoyed the company of other dogs in her foster home, but she has a history of resource guarding that has led to conflicts with another dog. Any potential canine companions would need careful introductions and proper management.

We're looking for an experienced, active adopter who can provide Lou with structure, continued training and plenty of opportunities to put her clever mind to work.

Lou really is a special girl, and we know there's someone out there who will appreciate everything she has to offer. She just needs the right environment and someone who's ready to help her shine. If Lou sounds like the pup for you, apply to adopt her today!
