Meet Knox!

When Knox first came into our care in early April, she was quiet and unsure, but she just needed a minute to take it all in. Since then, she's started to settle, and we're already seeing such a sweet, playful little personality come through

In just the past couple of days, she's really started to open up. She's been enjoying her foster dog siblings, is curious and gentle with cats, and is always ready to join in when it's time to play.

She's also a big fan of being close to her people. Knox loves to snuggle and is happiest curled up beside you, or better yet... in your arms. This sweet girl has gone from being unsure of humans to soaking up every bit of love and affection she can get!

She's still just a baby and learning the world around her, so she'll thrive in a home that's ready to continue building her confidence and helping her grow into the amazing dog she's already showing us she can be.
