Problem

Too Many Companies, Too Little Mentorship

Many startups fail or burn money because:

- They have to pay the employees until they close their first clients and they sometimes never reach the break-even point;
- They end up hiring non-professionals just to save some time and money;
- Insufficient experience with innovative technology leads to design mistakes that are arduous and difficult to correct once completed;
- Shoddy work damages a startup's reputation prematurely

Solution

Turnkey Solution:

We simplified the whole process by merging all necessary experts and departments under a unique management and vision.

Unique invoice:

Budget is kept under strict control with our unique invoice system. Payments can be made one-time or monthly based.

Efficient communication:

When an organization grows, it's important to establish a horizontal line of communication with you own dedicated manager.
