“WE INVITE ALL OUR FRIENDS

FALL FEST THIS YEAR”

Downtown Columbia hosts Fall Fest on October 11. Photography provided

FALL FEST RETURNS TO DOWNTOWN

Columbia Main Street is thrilled to announce the return of Fall Fest, scheduled to take place on October 11th from 3:00 pm to 8:00 pm in downtown Columbia.

This event, presented in partnership with Kiwanis of Columbia, promises a day filled with family-friendly activities in the heart of downtown. This community festival includes free admission to listen to live entertainment, enjoy a fun zone for all ages, pose in front of fall-inspired photo booths, and paint a mini pumpkin! Additionally, attendees can support local businesses by shopping with artisan-craft vendors, eating from delicious food trucks, purchasing a ticket for the Kiwanis Chili Cook Off, or pre-registering to participate in the Miss Maury County Fall Fest pageant.

This year's festivities feature the annual chili cook-off by Kiwanis of Columbia. This ticketed experience supports Kiwanis' local initiatives. Attendees who purchase a ticket will get to taste a variety of chili recipes from local teams and vote for their favorites. Tickets are $12 for adults and can be purchased at the event.

Kiwanis of Columbia will also host a "Fun Zone" featuring free face painting, balloon artists, caricature artists, inflatables, and a petting zoo. In addition to the Fun Zone, WireMasters has sponsored an all-ages painting station, where they can pick and decorate a mini pumpkin.

Live Entertainment will light up the Fall Fest stage with performances from talented local artists throughout the day. Starting with Boomerang, playing a mix of pop from the '60s and '70s. 46 Story will wrap up the day with a high-energy dance set featuring both current and classic R&B songs.

"Bring a lawn chair and your dancing shoes because you're going to be singing along and having a great time with each of the bands," says Kelli Johnson, Columbia Main Street Manager.

Back by popular demand is the Miss Maury Co Fall Fest Pageant by Britts. This year, the pageant will take place during Fall Fest instead of prior. Early registration is encouraged and can be found by visiting columbiainmainstreet.com.

"We invite all our friends and neighbors to attend Fall Fest this year," said Kelli Johnson, Columbia Main Street Manager. "We are privileged to partner with so many local businesses and organizations that work hard to create memorable moments for those in attendance. We hope that you enjoy the craft vendors, food trucks, the bands, and all the activities for every age, plus all the downtown merchants and restaurants who will be open during the event."

Barbara Lincoln, DPh. and Walter Holland, DPh. of Holland's Pharmacy. Photography by Robbie Mathis

A LOCAL FIXTURE SINCE 1979

JASON ZASKY

"People are called to do a lot of different things, and this is what I was called to do," begins Walter Holland, owner of Holland's Pharmacy on Hatcher Lane in Columbia. Indeed, Holland has spent his entire adult life in the pharmacy business, ever since he graduated from pharmacy school at the University of Kentucky.

"My dad was a pharmacist and I grew up in his drugstore, so it was a natural thing for me to do," explains Holland, a native of Bowling Green, Kentucky, who purchased his first drugstore in Lawrenceburg in 1964 before adding the location in Columbia in early 1979.

According to Holland, some of his current customers have been with him since the 1980s.

"The biggest thing is the personal relationships we have with our customers. We work very hard to get to know our customers and service them at the very highest level. For example, when you come to us, you are very seldom going to have to wait more than five or ten minutes to get your prescription filled," he says, before going on to note that he and his employees answer all calls personally.

"It would be a lot cheaper for me to use an answering machine, but we want to keep that personal touch, so any time you call us, the phone is answered by one of our staff members," he adds. That perhaps helps explain why Holland's Pharmacy won the Main Street Award for Best Pharmacy in Maury County in 2024.

"Prescriptions are our bread and butter. That's where we make our living. We're not trying to sell you cosmetics or household cleaning supplies," relates Holland, who has five full-time employees and one part-time staffer working alongside him. "We do sell other products out front, though. We have a nice selection of medical supplies and vitamins and related things, but mainly we fill prescriptions. And if you need your records for insurance and taxes, we can give you your records almost instantaneously," he adds.

After all these years, Holland says he still derives tremendous satisfaction from helping his customers stay healthy.

"I like the people (in Maury County). They are good, friendly people, and I enjoy getting to know them," he says, before adding that "getting to know and love your customers," is a big part of being successful in business.

Notably, Holland doesn't dwell on his successes, though, arguing that "getting wrapped up" in past achievements can be detrimental to one's future prospects.

"If you just try to do what the Lord wants you to do and serve your people the way He tells you, then you don't dwell on successes and what you've done. I am trying to do the best I can with what I have been called to do," he adds.

As for how long he plans to continue working, Holland says that remains to be seen.

"I told my wife many years ago—60 years ago, when we were dating—that I intended to work as long as the good Lord gave me enough mind and enough health to work. So, when the Lord tells me to hang it up, I will. That's not much of an answer, but that is the absolute truth," quips Holland, a Murfreesboro resident who still works 43 hours a week and spends three nights a week at the house he owns in Columbia.

Meanwhile, he says his job is as rewarding as ever, thanks in part to the people who surround him at the store.

"We have a really great staff here," he concludes. "They are all very special people and all share the same outlook on life: taking care of our customers the best way we know how.

COLUMBIA STATE STUDENT NURSING ASSOCIATION RECEIVES NATIONAL RECOGNITION AND AWARD

Columbia State's Student Nursing Association chapter has earned the prestigious National Student Nursing Association Stellar School designation.

Columbia State was the only community college in the country to achieve the Stellar School Chapter status for the 2024-2025 academic year. It also makes Columbia State only the third community college to be home to an NSNA Stellar School Chapter out of fewer than 50 colleges.

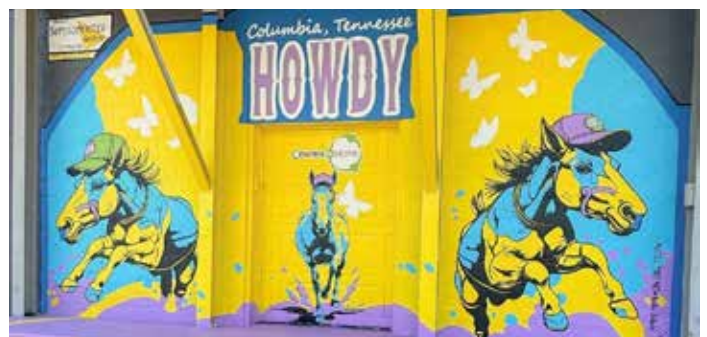

Columbia State students and faculty receive the NSNA Stellar School Chapter designation and award plaque.
