All this the Lord willing, and we live.

It's National Teacher Appreciation Week, and we're especially grateful for our teachers who lead with love, walk with integrity, and anchor their classrooms in biblical wisdom.

To every teacher who seeks to model a Christian life in walk and talk, we thank God for you. Our children need godly examples today. The apostle Paul says we are all "open books" for others to read.

We're praying for our school that classrooms would be filled with truth, compassion, exciting and engaging lessons, and purpose... and that our next generation would be shaped not just by knowledge but by the tender fear of God. Thank you, teachers!
