

Burgundy (3)

I, the Duke of Burgundy, do my duty to you both, on equal love,
Great Kings of France and England! That I have labor'd,
With all my wits, my pains and strong endeavors,
To bring your most imperial majesties
Unto this bar and royal interview,
Your mightiness on both parts best can witness.

You are assembled: and my speech entreats
That I may know why gentle Peace
Should not bless us with her former qualities.

King Henry V (2)

If, my cousin Burgundy, you would the peace,
you must buy that peace
With full accord to all our just demands.

Burgundy (3)

The king hath heard them; to the which as yet
There is no answer made.
Your majesty of France?
