FAIR TRADE MONTH EXERCISING GOOD STEWARDSHIP OF OUR POCKETBOOKS

Our late pontiff, Pope Benedict XVI, reminded us that as Christian disciples and as consumers, we have a specific social responsibility:

“It is good for people to realize that purchasing is always a moral—and not simply—an economic act. Hence the consumer has a specific social responsibility, which goes hand-in-hand with the social responsibility of the enterprise” (Caritas in Veritate, (“Charity in Truth”), no. 66).

October is Fair Trade Month, a month that gives the Christian steward an opportunity to prayerfully reflect more deeply into that social responsibility as a consumer and for ongoing formation about what it means to love one’s neighbor and how Church teaching encourages us to show more care about living beings, about our food and about the planet. Fair Trade Month is a time to educate ourselves about who and where our consumer products come from.

It is a time to put the spotlight on companies that do not treat workers with dignity and a time to celebrate the farms, factories, brands and retailers that do care about the earth, its resources and their workers. Pope Benedict’s call was urgent and getting a better grasp of what Fair Trade is all about creates opportunities for us to respond to Pope Benedict’s call in a small but significant way every day through the choices we make as consumers. When we make the conscious choice to purchase Fair Trade items, we are putting the values of Catholic social teaching into action, and working to realize our vision of economic justice. This month helps us explore the connections between Fair Trade and the core principles of Catholic social teaching.

There is a great deal of information online about Fair Trade and Catholic social teaching. Fair Trade invites us to ask questions about our products, and to think about who and where they come from. It encourages us to be more conscious about how we steward our dollars every time we shop. In many ways, Fair Trade can help us deepen our relationship with Christ Jesus by ensuring that we are following the Gospel imperative to love our neighbor. ICSC..

MES DEL COMERCIO JUSTO: EJERCENDO UNA ADMINISTRACIÓN RESPONSABLE DE NUESTRO DINERO

Nuestro difunto pontífice, el Papa Benedicto XVI, nos recordó que, como discípulos cristianos y como consumidores, tenemos una responsabilidad social específica:

«Es bueno que las personas se den cuenta de que comprar es siempre un acto moral —y no simplemente económico—. Por tanto, el consumidor tiene una responsabilidad social específica, que va de la mano con la responsabilidad social de la empresa» (Caritas in Veritate [«La caridad en la verdad»], n.º 66).

Octubre es el Mes del Comercio Justo, un mes que brinda al cristiano —en su papel de administrador de los bienes de Dios— la oportunidad de reflexionar en oración y con mayor profundidad sobre esa responsabilidad social como consumidor, así como de formarse continuamente sobre lo que significa amar al prójimo y cómo la enseñanza de la Iglesia nos anima a cuidar más a los seres vivos, nuestros alimentos y el planeta. El Mes del Comercio Justo es un tiempo para informarnos sobre quiénes elaboran los productos que consumimos y de dónde provienen.

Es un momento para poner el foco en aquellas empresas que no tratan a los trabajadores con dignidad, y para celebrar a las granjas, fábricas, marcas y comercios que sí se preocupan por la tierra, sus recursos y sus trabajadores. El llamado del Papa Benedicto fue urgente; comprender mejor en qué consiste el Comercio Justo nos permite responder a dicho llamado de una manera pequeña pero significativa cada día, a través de las decisiones que tomamos como consumidores. Al elegir conscientemente comprar productos de Comercio Justo, ponemos en práctica los valores de la Doctrina Social de la Iglesia y trabajamos para hacer realidad nuestra visión de justicia económica. Este mes nos ayuda a explorar las conexiones entre el Comercio Justo y los principios fundamentales de la Doctrina Social de la Iglesia.

Existe mucha información en línea sobre el Comercio Justo y la Doctrina Social de la Iglesia. El Comercio Justo nos invita a cuestionarnos sobre nuestros productos y a reflexionar sobre quiénes los elaboran y de dónde vienen. Nos anima a ser más conscientes de cómo administramos nuestro dinero cada vez que compramos. En muchos sentidos, el Comercio Justo puede ayudarnos a profundizar nuestra relación con Cristo Jesús, asegurándonos de cumplir el mandato evangélico de amar al prójimo. ICSC...

DR. LLEWELLYN YOUNG

Dr. Llewellyn K. Young, Jr. is the Superintendent of Hawaii Catholic Schools for the Diocese of Honolulu, bringing more than 30 years of experience in educational leadership, administration, and student development. Born and raised on Kauai and a graduate of St. Theresa School in Kekaha, he has dedicated his career to advancing educational excellence and faith formation in schools and higher education institutions across Hawaii and the mainland United States.

Prior to his appointment as Superintendent by Bishop Larry Silva in 2020, Dr. Young served as Principal and Head of School at St. Joseph School in Hilo, Associate Superintendent of Catholic Schools, Dean of Student Affairs and Associate Professor at Arizona Western College, and Assistant Dean at Northern Arizona University. He is recognized for innovative leadership initiatives, including the nationally featured COHORT governance model, the statewide "I Go 2 College" partnership with Chaminade University, and the revitalization of leadership formation programs for Catholic school administrators.

Under his leadership, Hawaii Catholic Schools experienced its largest enrollment growth in more than a decade while strengthening Catholic identity, governance, and educational excellence throughout the Diocese. A frequent presenter on leadership, diversity, and student development, Dr. Young remains committed to forming future leaders and ensuring that Catholic schools continue to thrive as centers of faith, learning, and service.

OUR RETREAT LEADERS

Living Joyfully Amid the Turmoil of Life

MANDY THRONAS-BROWN

Mandy Thronas-Brown is currently the Associate Superintendent for Hawaii Catholic Schools which she assumed on July 1, 2021. She is responsible for leadership development and mentoring, accreditation compliance, and executive administration support for all Catholic preschools/early learning centers and elementary schools (PK-8) in the state. She also coordinates all major Catholic school Diocesan (District) events including the Mass of the Holy Spirit, Annual Conference for Catholic Educators (ACCE), and the Annual Choral Festival. She is currently the Catholic schools' representative on the DHS Childcare Advisory Council and also serves as the Western Catholic Education Association (WCEA) Accreditation Commissioner for Catholic Elementary Schools. She also serves as the Catholic schools Asbestos Compliance Liaison and works with the schools on other safety and compliance issues.

Mandy has a Bachelor of Arts degree in Music and a Master of Education degree with Educational Leadership Emphasis from Chaminade University. She has well over 20 years of experience in education. She began her teaching career at St. Ann School in 1997 as a Music Teacher. In 2010, after having been with St. Ann's for 13 years, Mandy was promoted to the position of Principal for St. Ann Early Learning Center. Three years later, Mandy assumed the position of Principal of St. Ann School. She served as principal until 2021 when she became the Associate Superintendent.
