

IT'S TIME TO JOIN

American Legion Baseball has been turning out college and Major League Baseball (MLB) players for decades. Nearly 75 percent of Legion Baseball graduates continue playing baseball in college, and about 50 percent of all current MLB players played Legion Baseball. More than 60 Legion Baseball graduates have been inducted into the Major League Baseball Hall of Fame.

Does your team want to belong to the nation's best-organized amateur youth baseball program?

Is your team ready to play other strong competitive teams?

Is your team ready to join a winning tradition?

If you answered "yes" to any of these questions, contact a local American Legion post. Better yet, attend its next meeting with a couple of players and ask the veterans to help sponsor your team.

WHY AMERICAN LEGION BASEBALL?

NATIONAL TOURNAMENT EXPENSES PAID

Shelby, N.C., has been the official home for The American Legion Baseball World Series since 2011. The American Legion sponsors the only amateur baseball program that provides travel arrangements, which includes airfare, hotel and meal expenses while participating at a regional tournament and to qualifying teams at the American Legion World Series.

To ensure fairness on the field, the national office makes arrangements for tournament staff, umpires and baseballs at the regional and national tournaments.

"You represent a post – people who fought in a war for us. It's an honor to be playing for them. When we step out on the field and we're called Brooklawn Legion Post 72, it's representing a really good cause."

– Eric Grafton, who played for Legion World Series champion Post 72, Brooklawn, N.J.
