ELECTRONIC PRESS KIT | CURRENT RELEASE: WALKING IN A PAINTING

“I want my music to feel like walking through a painting.”

“Walking in a Painting” is a slow-building, rhythm-driven cinematic instrumental blending expressive electric and acoustic guitars, piano, bass, live drums, synthesizer textures, and crystal singing bowls tuned to 432 Hz. Peaceful but alive, the track grows from a spacious opening into a more dynamic bridge, evoking the feeling of stepping inside a living painting.

THE STORY BEHIND THE SONG

“Walking in a Painting” doesn’t announce itself—it draws the listener in slowly, the way light changes in a room before the whole atmosphere seems transformed. Beginning with a crystal-bowl strike, chimes, piano, and electric guitar, the arrangement gradually adds picked acoustic guitar, bass, drums, and an ethereal non-lyric vocal texture. A later bridge shifts the harmony into C major and brings the strummed acoustic guitar and drums forward, allowing the peaceful opening to expand into something more dynamic.

The result is cinematic without being overstated, uplifting without being loud, and suited to reflective driving, creative work, focus, walking, and restorative listening.

“Music first, healing embedded.”

ABOUT HEALING VIBES COLLECTIVE

Healing Vibes Collective is the cinematic instrumental project of Florida-based composer, producer, recording engineer, and multi-instrumentalist Pam Green. Drawing on more than four decades of experience in rock, jazz, and folk, Green combines expressive guitars, piano, bass, live rhythm, synthesizer textures, and crystal singing bowls to create music that is peaceful, melodic, and emotionally transporting.

After decades of performing, composing, and recording, Green began directing her work toward music created to encourage peace, emotional balance, focus, and restorative listening. Healing Vibes Collective places the composition and emotional journey first while thoughtfully incorporating frequency-aware sound design, including crystal singing bowls associated with 432 Hz and 528 Hz tunings.

The project’s artistic lane sits between cinematic instrumental music, downtempo, atmospheric instrumental rock, and melodic soundscape work. The music is spacious but not passive—designed for listeners who want calm with movement, melody, and emotional lift.
