McElhaney Proudly Receives UAW Endorsement

Orchard Park, NY — Braiden McElhaney, candidate for Orchard Park Town Council, announced today that he has received the endorsement of United Auto Workers (UAW) Region 9.

“I am deeply honored to earn the trust and endorsement of UAW Region 9,” said McElhaney. “Coming from a working-class family, I know firsthand the values of hard work, solidarity, and perseverance. These are the values that shaped me, and they are the values I will carry with me as a council member.”

McElhaney emphasized his commitment to standing up for working families in Orchard Park. “Workers built this community, and workers deserve a strong voice in our local government. As a member of the Town Council, I will always fight to protect good jobs, fair wages, and safe working conditions. This endorsement reinforces my commitment to ensuring that working people have a seat at the table when decisions are made about our town’s future.”

UAW Region 9 represents thousands of auto workers and their families across New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, and is recognized as a leading advocate for fair labor practices and economic justice. Their endorsement reflects McElhaney’s dedication to building a town government that values people over politics and supports opportunity for all.

“Together, we can build a stronger Orchard Park — one that respects workers, supports small businesses, and invests in our community’s future,” McElhaney added.
