

A Democrat In A Democracy

AT - 1

9-29-90

You know man, in particular religious man, doesn't think there is any way that the end days could creep upon him, because he'll be able to understand, he'll be able to discern who the anti-christ is. He will be able to discern who the Son of Man, the Second Coming is, because he'll see Him on a cloud. He will know the anti-christ, because the anti-christ will be somebody real wicked, and who will be talking as if he is doing it for God, but in his intents it is to kill, maim, and destroy. It is to cause great damage.

But the interesting thing is, that we hadn't noted, is that the Scripture says that it will be so deceptive. It will be so deceptive that even the religious man, even the elect man, even the Christian will be deceived if possible. He would be deceived is possible. He will be deceived because he wouldn't be able to see who it was and what it was. It will seem good to him when it's evil and bad. It will seem right to him, when it is the evil that God had spoken of that would come upon this earth. It will be the thing of wickedness that God said would come, and it will deceive man so bad that he, literally, if he is not the elect, and if God doesn't warn him, and if he doesn't pray and seek the Lord, he is going to be deceived to where he is going to fall into the trap and be a part of it, because he won't understand the evil that's in it. He will think that he is right when he is wrong. He will be going on a track of a direction that he thinks is right, and it is the wrong track. Oh, he may be doing all the things that seem to be right, but they are going to end up being wrong. He's going to be on the wrong track, because he is not going to have a personal relationship with Jesus, because he doesn't have a personal relationship with God, through Jesus Christ, because he doesn't have that personal contact, that intimacy in His heart with God, he will step right into it and not understand what is happening. It will be just as if it seemed so real to him that he won't really know what is right and what is wrong.

And the Lord said, even the elect would be deceived if possible, and the only thing that is going to keep them from being possible is if they have a personal relationship with God, the mark of the cross, and a love for God, and a brokenness for God, and that they are pure and clean at heart. That's the only thing that's going to stop it, and all around is going to be raging hell, just raging hell, fear, fright, death, pestilence, famine, recession, just worse and worse. Yet man will grasp onto any thing he can, saying, "Well, it's going to get better. Well, it's not that bad. Well, I can get out of it. I'm making good money, and I'm in good shape." He is going to hang on to money. He is going to hang on to goods. He is going to hang on to his own thoughts. He is going to think that he can make it in his own way. He is going to be greatly deceived, and it's already upon you.

It is already in motion. I told you that it would all begin in '89, and in '89 it all began, and it is now under way. You are going to begin to see those things now begin to unfold that I told you about in '82, '83, '84, '85. Those things then when we saw nothing to indicate it are now in place, and those things that I gave you, that were of prophecy, and were of the Word that was given to me, that I gave to you, are now set in motion.

When you would have never thought that there would be such a thing that would happen upon this earth, it is now in progress. You see that in '89 all the governments, virtually, cracked open, and what happened? Democracy came. Democracy came. They all had their freedom to do their own will, to elect their own people, to set up their own government, to do their own thing. In '89 it all began. After all the years of plenty, from '82 through '89, then in '89 began the famine, began the worst years of all; and now, as the time comes along one year later in '90, almost a year later, you see now they are saying recession is coming. Not only are they saying recession, they are saying a great recession. Not only are they saying a great recession, they are saying it will be a terrible recession, if the oil prices go up the way they say they are going to go. No longer will you be able to drive vehicles. No longer will man be able to have the food and goods. You will see rampant inflation. It will run at the rate - they will raise the prices on goods five and ten percent every week and every month they will be twenty percent, and inflation will soon be double-digit, then it will be triple-digit, as it begins to climb: and if that's the case that we are going to go into it, then oil is going to go up as it becomes short. Whether it goes up now, or in another year from now, or two years from now, it will all be in place.

Things will go at a rate that man will have a chance to see what is coming, if he is wise, if his eyes are open, and he'll begin to repent. There will be a few, maybe, that will repent; and when they repent - repent means turn away from sin and never turn back, never, never, never turn back - for he who turns back is not repented. He who turns back is just absolutely a sinner yet. He turned back to his old ways. But when you turn from sin, if you are truly are of the Lord, and you desire to walk in His ways, you will turn and never return. You will turn from sin and you will never return. You will fight it: with your mouth, with the Word of God out of your mouth, and with the desire of your heart, and not by the feelings of your mind. You will not be deceived by the lies that come upon you, but instead you will begin to know that they are lies, and you will stand steadfast. You will have to come to know what faith is. Faith is that substance that's strong enough to guarantee that you will wait upon God, and that you will have a relationship with Him through that faith that will set the food on your table, the clothes on your back, and the place to rest in front of you. God has all those things so easily established for those that have that faith, those who will stand steadfast, He has that place reserved, waiting for them; and without that faith man will not make it. You will lose your family. You will lose your children. You will lose your own life. You will lose your own sanity as you go crazy.

Begin to watch as the hand of God is removed off this earth in this nation. Begin to watch. Man will do exactly according to the demons that are inside of him: rape, plunder, lies, drugs, murder, killing of babies, killing of family, random, just wanton killing, because their's anger and bitterness within them, and they have no respect for life, because the power of the devil is their source. The power of the devil has been unleashed.

It said in the last days that woe, woe, woe, unto man, for the devil has been thrown down to the earth, and he's become like a man. He's become like a man, means he's in the body of a man, or men - whether it be one man or a million men, the spirits of the devil, the power of the devil.

The devil, himself, Lucifer, is only one. He can only be one place; but his hate and rage will be so that he will desire to kill and plunder, and murder, and destroy everything in his sight. He will set out to do that which is foolish, that which is stupid. Perhaps, Hussein, Saddam, in Iraq, - maybe. He says that he does it for God, but he's the anti-christ. Yet he calls America the big anti-christ. Yes, America has sin in it. Yes, the anti-christ is working in America against sin, but there is also in America many people who believe in the Lord and trust in Him, and whom the Lord knows. So there is that relationship within there.

Democracy is the thing that has caused the big problem to begin. Let's read what democracy is in the dictionary: "Democracy is a government in which the supreme," not little power, t's "a government in which the supreme power is vested in the people and exercised by them directly or indirectly through a system of representation." It is "a government by the people." It is a government "ruled by the majority: a political unit that has a democratic government: a common people, esp. when constituting the source of political authority: the absence of hereditary or arbitrary class distinction, or privileges." In other words, no one has anything, they get voted into it. A democracy. A de-mo-crat. A democrat.

And now you'll begin to see of all the things I gave you on the tapes and the teachings over the last year or two, several years. A democrat is "an adherent," "an adherent of democracy," one who adheres to democracy, "one who practices social equality in democracy." He is also "a member of a democratic party of the U.S.A. ." A democrat. And if you will note, the democrat party desire is to murder every child that you don't want. Democrats adhere to the system of abortion as being a desired thing. Democrats adhere to the system that everybody should be given money and given things so that they all have all they want so they can want more. Democrats believe that it's good if the majority wants something, we should then make it a law to have that, and therefore we have come to a nation, liberal, democrats, without theocracy, minus the theocracy of God, minus the way of God.

This nation is rapidly going on the wrong pathway. So I told you before, that the real danger was democracy and a democrat. A democrat, democracy, a government "ruled by the people, for the people, of the people," for their own benefit. It doesn't make any difference who you kill. It doesn't make any difference what you do, as long as you have a law that says you can do it: that's their philosophy.

And when man becomes a democracy, or a democrat in a democracy, he no longer will allow God to be his Lord. God can no longer be the authority, because the authority is vested in the man by his nature, by his own spirit, and by his own nature, his authority is vested in him. He makes his own decisions, he goes his own direction, he does his own thing. When he doesn't like something he just throws a fit and does what he wants to anyway. He doesn't care whether he hurts somebody or not. He doesn't care whether he pleases God or not, as long as he pleases himself. That's a democrat: an adherent of those who rule themselves. To rule themselves, they make their own laws, inside themselves. They make their own desires inside themselves, and no one will change them in their opinion. They live for themselves.

It is one of the most vile and evil forms of governments that has ever been devised. Has there ever been a case in history that I could refer back to and give you some example of some of this? Well, let's look back at the very first case. When God brought His people out of the desert into the promise land, He gave them judges for a long period of time. And then, God desired that He be their King. He desired that He be their King, and that He would rule over them, and they would be His subjects and His people in His land.

But the people didn't like that. They clamored about it. They said, "No, we don't want this. We want a man for a King. We want a man King like the other people in this land had, like the other nations around us had. We want a man king that we put in power that we can elect, and so they petitioned Samuel the prophet, and they petitioned against him that they would be given a king, a man king, and that this man king would rule over them; and so they were given one, Saul - head and shoulders above them, great king, big man, big shot, etc.. And Saul began to rule, and Saul's rule was this: just exactly like what I've been telling you, a democrat. His desire was to please the people so that he would be respected by the people, and that they would be satisfied with him, so they would keep him in power and not revolt against him, and not kill him, or not have a coup or an overthrow of him, and so he desired that he please them. His desire was so great that he would absolutely trespass and transgress against the laws and commands of God to satisfy the desire of the people. His great desire was, when he talked to Samuel, "Samuel, you go ahead and do it. I don't want to do it. I want to do these things, because if I didn't go ahead and make the sacrifice, then the people would have gotten excited and fearful, or they would get upset and then they would have turned against me." So Saul did not wait upon the prophet of God, nor upon God, but instead he did his own thing because his desire was to please the people so that he, he, would not get in trouble.

Well, there's no difference between Saul and our congress today. There's no difference between Saul and our president today. They are elected by the majority of the people, and if they don't please the majority, they are going to get put out of office no matter whether it is good or bad. And so, therefore, they will do that in most cases that is pleasing to the majority so that they will have a good following, so that they will have enough votes to get in the next year.

A king has a lifetime authority. A democrat is elected by the majority of the people, not according to how good he is, not according to how moral he is, but instead, according to how he pleases the people - not God, - the people, how he pleases the people.

So when you begin to look at these nations around the world that have fallen to democracy over the last few months now, and the last year, roughly, you look at one of the first big fallings to democracy, theoretically a democracy, was the Phillipines that happened a couple years ago when they overthrew Marcos, who was a dictator, a tyrant; but he kept the country in control. How long he was, I am not talking about that, but the woman who came into power, being a liberal democrat in many ways, has now got corruption that is throughout her government, and she is about ready to face the overthrow and possibly death, in a coup.

Democrats - they will fight you. They will kill, as quickly as any other type of government there is. They will have a revolution, and revolt, and overthrow. They go from a democratic government to a dictator, military dictator, back to a democratic government, back to a military dictator, back to a democrat again, and it just goes back and forth, seesaw, because the democratic government that comes in ends up with corruption. They end up being corrupt. Why are they corrupt? Because they want to please the people. They have to make something out of it in order to make it worthwhile for them, so while in the process of making something out of it, pleasing the people, they end up doing those things which are corrupt: pilfer the government, put in laws that are totally wrong... It's just a vicious cycle, goes around and around.

Now we see why man will be deceived. He'll be deceived because he will think that democracy is the greatest thing that ever came. He will believe that democracy is what God wants, because it frees up the churches to have their free worship. There has never been a time in history where free worship in a church cleansed it or purified it, or made it holy in God's sight. It took persecution to do that. It took great persecution, to where they were driven out of the cities unto the underground, because the time that the church became free, the Christian church, was in around 300 and, 300 and something A.D. was when King Constantine took and came in and allowed the church to have it's freedom. When it began to do that, paganism came into it. All kinds of sinners, liars, and thieves, and bandits, and unrepentive people began to attend the churches. They began to be a part of the church, and they could go down to the church building freely, because the church was like part of the state building right down in the city.

Russia is going to open up their church system now, and the churches are just going wild the last couple days, because they put out law that is so free that the church can do anything, and the state can't touch it. They are going to be free to do all their services and their worship and their everything, and the building will be owned by the congregation. It is a total reversal of 180 degrees, and it's happened in the last two or three days. It is a tremendous strange thing that's happened. Will it bring Christianity to the country? No. If a man was going to be a Christian, he would have come and been a Christian in the underground in hiding when persecution was on, but if he was now waiting for this freedom so that he could go to church so that they wouldn't bother him, he wasn't really a Christian. All he was, was just somebody who wanted to go in when he didn't have anything to face. He wasn't willing to face the situation. He wasn't willing to give his life for anything. He wasn't willing to be a real Christian in the face of danger. He only wanted to be a believer, a "go to church man," whenever there was freedom so that the state wouldn't bother him, and nobody in the government wouldn't bother him. He wouldn't have to hide underground or anything. He was a non-repentive, unchanged, unrepentive man, that would go to church when there's all freedom around him, and that's what Russia is coming to. Oh, it will bring people into the church, but will it really make them change? That's a good question.

Real true purging, making their garments white, are those who come out of the great tribulation. Those who come out of the great tribulation, those who have been purged and made white, and for the others, they had to go through the tribulation, and they were beheaded for their testimony. Their heads were cut off. They were killed, massacred, for the testimony of God that they held within, and then after death, they had to wait until they were given white robes. For they did not have them, but they were saved by their testimony. They were saved by their testimony unto death. They did not change unto death. Through they had not lived right, they had repentance. These are the ones who didn't know the way to go, had never really dabbled and walked in the way of religion.

But there will be a purging coming, a great purging like never seen before. The purging might come from the denominational churches. That's what it did in the past from the Jewish church; didn't it? Very possible that's what will happen again, from the church itself. Perhaps it will be another way.

But I'll put it this way: the only way you're going to know is if you've prayed solidly, fasted, and your heart is right with God, and you're walking right with Him, day, after day, after day, without failure; then He will guard you, and He will take you. Because, why would God allow you, why would He have you to go through the persecution of man and the wrath of God, if you've already been through the persecution, if you've already been through repentance within, and your heart is purged, and your life is pure, and you're walking according to the will of God, having confessed, repented, daily, until you've been cleansed and purged. God does not cause you to go back through and walk into that persecution when you have already been through it, but he allows you to walk in it, knowing that you have the right heart. You do not fear it.

But for those whose unchanged lives are out here, who confess to be believers, who do not walk like believers, but confess to be, and are just half-way believers, they believe one day and then sin the next. The next week they are in church, and the next week they are out, and the next week they are in troubles and drugs, whatever it may be that causes them to go wild and berserk, which will cause them to murder their families. More religious people murder their families than does the bum on the street - not Christians, religious people, those who profess to be but can't follow it, read the Word, but can't live it, talk about it but can't live it, act like Christians, tell somebody something, and still can't live it. Their home lives are shabby and shoddy. They are mean and vile with their heart and their thoughts, their intent, their deeds, and then they profess to be. They turn around.

They are the murderers. They are the ones you see where the danger lies.

So, there is going to need to be a purging. The purging must come, as the country and the world sets into a great danger. You couldn't have understood how it could all come about back some months ago, but maybe you can see the picture today.

Oil causes the world to turn. Without oil we can't farm our crop land. Without oil we can't build ships. Without oil we don't have transportation as we know it today. Without oil, the cars wouldn't sell, the RVs wouldn't sell, the boats wouldn't sell, and all those industries would go out of business. Without oil, the military couldn't fly their airplanes, run their tanks. Without oil, you can't build certain things. You can't use certain products, because they use oil to make them with. I could go on and on.

The airlines have already increased their fares ten percent they say, in the last month, and they are going to have to go up ten percent more, and another twenty percent after that, just to compensate for the price of oil today that doesn't change and go back down faster. Where is it going to go? It's going through the whole economy. Just watch it. Just watch and see. It's going fast now. It's preparing it's way.

And democracy will soon give way to something else, soon give way to something else. After democracy comes laissez-faire. Laissez-faire is a French word meaning what? Everybody does his own thing. That's the ultimate of democracy. Everybody has a free for all. Everybody does what they want. Everything goes, everything is good for the individual, just a free time, a free place. Laissez-faire. Let's see what it says in the dictionary on it. O.K., Laissez-faire: it means, it comes from a word meaning "to let people do as they choose," "a doctrine opposing governmental interference in economic affairs beyond the opposing government, beyond the minimum necessary for the maintenance of peace and property rights, a philosophy or practice characterized by a deliberate absenteeism from direction or interference with individual freedom of choice and action."

In other words, it is a policy, it is a way of life, a spirit and a way of life that says, "Nobody can interfere with what I want to do." If I want to get drunk and tear up my house, I've got a right to do it. If I want to be a drunkard, I can be it. If I want to be a druggie, I can be it. If I want to be a fornicator, I can do it. Nobody is going to stop me. If I want to go out here and burn my place up, that's my right to do it. If I want to kill my family, that's my right to do it. If I want to let my family live as pigs and bums, that's nobody's business besides mine." That's laissez-faire. "And no government will interfere with me." It means, in other words, "I'm bigger than the government." It is an exact opposite thing than communism, exactly opposite than communism.

The wrong with communism was that God wasn't in it. They said there wasn't a God. It wasn't the philosophies of people banding together and coming to together in communes, working together as a family and as a group to produce more, and work together to be as a unit. It had some ideas there, but it was wrong because it had no God in it, and because the doctrine got too far off. There hasn't been any kind of government yet devised that is proper in God's sight, and until a theocracy comes there won't be any.

Theocracy is an absolute dictatorship by God. It's an absolute rulership by God to where there is no flexibility. It's inflexible. It's perfect in all of it's ways, and unbendable, unyieldable, inflexible, absolutely stiff like a rod. Here is the Word, here is the Way, here is the way it should be, and man will adhere to it - not because he has to, but because he desires to. Because, any man trying to adhere to it because he has to, will fail in every course.

And that's the same today. If you want to be a Christian today and you try to, you'll never make it. You'll fail at every course. But, if you want to love God, and you want to give your heart to Him, you will never fail, because you will do it because you love Him, just because you love Him.

It's the same as it says in the scripture in Isaiah 45. King Cyrus, He says, "He's my shepherd." He says also in Isaiah 45, He says, "And he will build My City," which is the City of God, the City of Truth, not for price nor reward, and it means, just because he loves Me. "He will build it because he loves Me," God said, "and he will do it because he loves Me."

Jesus did that for His Father, in His doing. He gave His life that He might die for all mankind, that the devil would be judged; that sin would be judged, and the devil would be judged, and that God would use Him because of His perfection, because He was willing to go to His death.

The example was Isaac and his father Abraham. He was willing to go to his death because he loved his father. And that is exactly what it means. Isaac would give his life to his father Abraham just because he loved him. Jesus gave his life to God the Father, His Father, just because He loved Him; and He said, "Cyrus would build His Temple. He would build the City, the City of God, spoken of - the City of God, the City of Truth, the City of Jerusalem, the Holy Jerusalem. He would build that City because he loved Him.

That City means this: that inside him would be the place of God, would be the place where Jesus and the Father dwelt forevermore. It would be the Holy City within him. He would build that City by using the Word and by breaking himself unto total brokenness, obedience to God, willingness, and a love for God so great that nothing else mattered, to where the Father and the Son would make Their abode in him, Their Home in him, and the City of Jerusalem, is the City of the Lord where God dwells, where the Temple is, and that is in man.

Democracy is a place where love of man is for himself, within himself. Democracy builds the city of Babylon within - free worship, worship of the world, the way of the world, do your own thing, and lust for your own will. Democracy builds corruption. Man who has democracy has corruption. He corrupts himself because he has no restriction upon himself. His direction is to serve his own self. He goes with the majority, and the majority are always wrong, virtually always wrong, the majority are.

God always works with the minority. There is no place in the scripture have you ever found where God was with the majority, at no place. At no time was God ever with the majority. He was always with the minority, because they were the ones that He could find and would turn to Him.

Yet, there are things coming that are so devastating that if you knew what they were today they would scare you to no end, but if you have that peace inside you, because you know that you're right with God, and you know that you're getting right with God each day. And, if you're not getting right with God each day, if you're not repenting, if you are not changing each day, then you better find a way to do it fast. You better make sure that you can find that way instead of continuing on as you are. Change faster.

Some of you I'm talking to. Some of you will not make it as you are. You're not on the right course. You're not doing anything about it. You're just coming out here and sitting down with me - does not get you there. If you heard every word I had to say, it would not get you there. You must put it all into affect, and you must see it and live it, and talk it up, and bring it forth in your life, and in your words, and in your thoughts.

I've never heard some of you ever declare how much you love Jesus. I've never heard you ever make a testimony of how your love for Him is so strong, you're so thankful for Him, and He is the Savior of your life, the Lord of your life, and you're so thankful for Him, and that you're so thankful each day because He is always with you, before you. I've never heard you testify that, and no man without testimony has a witness. No man who has not given testimony can be a witness.

Jesus was upon the earth and gave testimony and became a witness. Jesus gave testimony as to Who He was, and what would happen, and what He came for, and Who God was, and the way that you should be, and what was going to take place, and that He would rise from the dead, and that man Who believed in Him would have life, and then He became the witness of His testimony.

It is the same for man. Until you can make testimony, until you can make testimony, you can't be a witness. Until I testify as to what I am, and who I am in the Lord, and Who God is to me, until I can give testimony as to my walk with Him, and my love for Him; and I must testify until it becomes a fact within my life, then, I become a witness from my testimony.

If you want to be a witness for the Lord, a living witness, attesting to His glory, attesting to His power, attesting to His love, a witness that reveals to others by your way of life, by how you live, and how you act, by the nature that's within you, having God within you as His temple within you, if you intend to be His and His family, you must have that, and if you desire to be, to have life eternal forevermore, then you'll need to give testimony, and testimony, and testimony, and testimony, and testimony, day and night without ceasing, for that is the prayer that is spoken of: "to pray always," "testify always." Testify always. Those who pray say, "Well, I thought God meant for me to get down each morning and say, "Oh, God, give me, give me, give me. Oh God, help me, help me, help me. Oh, God, bless me, bless me, bless me. Oh God, save me, save me, save me. Oh God, help me, help me, help me." He said, "No. I intended for you to testify. Pray to testify. Pray means to seek, ask, or to converse with, ask petition of, give reference to; in other words, when He said, "When you walk, talk, testify as to what you will be. Testify of Who I am. Testify of My greatness. Testify of My glory within you. Testify of My life within you. Testify of My Word within you. Testify to others. Testify to your children. Testify to your husband. Testify to your wife. Perhaps you might testify to somebody outside your family, but if you don't testify to them, how would you testify to anyone else? How can you testify to the neighbor when your home life is a shamble and you hate your wife in your heart? You despise her. You don't think she does you right. You don't think she loves you. You want more out of her. Your anger towards her is not to change her to make her right, but your anger towards her is because you hate her. You don't like her. You disagree with her. You judge her. You find fault with her.

Or to your husband, you act like a monkey towards him. You don't love him or respect him as Sarah loved and respected her husband Abraham. You don't testify of your love towards him. You don't lift him up in your thoughts and in your ideas. You can get your mouth open and say all kinds of things, but if your heart doesn't lift him up you don't have much, and God sees that. And if you can't lift up your husband, you certainly can't lift up God.

So until you can be a witness in your own family, how could you possibly be a witness to outsiders, and why would you want to try to speak to outsiders as a witness unless God puts you in contact? You begin to talk, and you just declared things, and you spoke things unknowing what you were doing, so that the other person was flabbergasted, and astounded at the words you had to say, thinking that you knew something, that you had revelational knowledge, when all you were doing was speaking what was in your heart. That testimony is what you have great need of, that you might one day be a witness, and that you might be before God unashamed, having the right heart.

If you want to be a democrat, you'll die the second death, for there's no place in God's kingdom for a democrat. He has no democracies. He has no democratic government that he adheres to, condones, nor allows to exist. If you are a democrat, you're a lost person. You're on the wrong track.

But if you seek after that theocracy, and allow that theocracy to have power within you toward God as your ultimate ruler, you'll find life and freedom. For the freedom comes that you turn loose of fighting to keep the evil that you once wanted. Freedom comes when you finish your fight, no longer fighting against God, or fighting against the will of God, but instead you turned your will away unto the Lord, so that you can rest in peace and go where He says, when He says, and how He says, biding your time, working each day, going forth doing the things that need to be done, making track of it, utilizing your time wisely, praying always to find the direction that God would have you to go, asking Him to guide your way, meaning it, desiring it, and not trying to think what you want to do, and forcing yourself to do that which you wanted to do, thinking that God wants you to, when there's a closed door and it doesn't go.

That's democracy: doing your own will, and fighting your way. A theocracy is one who allows their will to be ingrained and enthroned in God, and where He takes you is where you go, and you make the joy and the greatest of it.

Democracy: people ruling themselves, man ruled by himself, forming his own government within his own heart, within his own land, with his own nation down inside, and making his own government, deciding his own laws, and ruling by the majority of the spirits within him, the majority of the demons and spirits, natures within him, gives him council to do that which is wrong, judging it to be right, because he wanted to do it, feeling that he had a majority within deciding to do it, and it pleases him, so he goes and does what is his own desire.

A democrat is one who wants the government to give him everything he can give him: give him a living, give him everything, watch over him, pat him on the back, don't bother him, feed him, take care of him, fight his wars for him, and he can bitch and moan and live in sin, live corruptly, and have no accountability to the government itself, not having accountability to the government, but instead accounting to himself in his own self-will, real sickness, real evil, - a democrat.

And it's upon the earth today, the great threat, the ominous black cloud that was seen in the vision given to George Washington by God when he was in battle at one of his stations, and there's a booklet on it on the vision that God gave him, the ominous black cloud that would rise up and would be all over the waters, coming out of Asia, Europe, and that's what Europe did. They turned to democracy throughout the world, a rulership of the people, and the church is right with it. They believe it to be the greatest thing since peanut butter, not because there's any purging to take place, but because they feel that people are supposed to have freedom to do their own will.

Danger, real danger, recession. While recession is going on, an inflation will take place in prices, escalating, fast, high-rising, escalating prices, because of the oil crisis, and a recession taking place as far as food, machinery, production, in the days soon to come and already now.

Russia doesn't have enough food to get through the winter. Some of the areas of the world don't have enough food to go on to feed the people. And now, they can't produce anymore, because many of the small nations can't afford to buy the oil now necessary to run their equipment and their tractors, and they don't have horses and oxen anymore because they are in a mechanized period of time, and they don't have the animals to turn back to to till the land to produce the soil to raise the crop to feed the people, because the oil is what they depended on.

What are they going to do? What is the world going to do? Many nations now are going to be bankrupted. Many small ones will be bankrupted because they can't afford to pay for the oil. Their debt is already over their heads, and they owe, just a world, just a mounting, massive amount of debt to the United States. And so now, we will have to write it off.

And the banks, the loan agencies, and they too will begin to crumble, and when they began to crumble, the government can't bail them all out. It doesn't have the money, so it's going to become a vicious circle.

Property values will begin to drop along with it. As property values begin to drop, that's what everything is built on today, the credit system. And when the property values begin to drop in other areas of the country that haven't dropped yet, look out! Banks will go under, savings and loans even further than they are. There's never been such of a failure of savings and loans and banks as we've seen, and they're all being bailed out with funny money. "Funny money", that's the money produced last night by the federal treasury to pay off today's debts, money that we really had to print in the printing machine last night so we could pay today's debts off. It will continue to grow.

Will we get out? We might have a reprieve, there might be ups and downs in a period of time, but the end result is chaos, collapse, destruction as prophesied. But unto the man who turns his heart to the Lord, doesn't vary, doesn't waver, his faith stands strong, who's been tried and tested in the fire, knows that the things that are coming are on the horizon, are already forecast, prophesied, and he will be steadfast in the Lord, he will be waiting for the day of his redemption. He will be waiting for the day that the Lord will take him to safety where ever it may be.

He will be waiting for his redemption, and he's not looking for Jesus to be standing on a cloud in white clothes, he's not looking for his being caught up into heaven in his dirty state, he's looking to God as his sole source because he loves Him. He'll look to God because he loves Him, just because He loves God and he knows that God is God. He'll have a yearning within him. He'll have a love within him, that I can't explain in words. He'll have a love, a yearning inside that his love for God is so strong, and he knows that God is his everything. It's like his own self. It's like a love for his own self that far exceeds words or explanation. He'll have that love for God within him, and he'll have testimony within before God that he has that love, and he'll be safe in all the storm. God will keep him safe through the storm and bring him near unto Him in the end.
