8am GOOD FRIDAY

Today begins the first day of Holy Week. Palm Sunday commemorates the entry of Jesus into Jerusalem, where he is proclaimed king.

The first reading, from Isaiah, is one of four poems that are called "the Servant Songs." Another of these poems will be heard on Good Friday. While these texts are believed to have originated during the exile, the Church sees these words as speaking to the identity of Jesus, the one who has given himself for the life of others.

The psalm refrain, "My God, my God, why have you abandoned me," will be heard in today's Gospel reading from Mark. Since this line also appears in the Gospel of Matthew, Psalm 22 is perhaps one of the best known of the lament psalms.

Today's text from Philipians is often referred to as the "Christ hymn." Paul uses this poem of uncertain origin to speak of the humiliation and the exaltation of Jesus.

Similarities between this text and the reading from Isaiah are self-evident.

Since Mark's passion account is lengthy, involving multiple scenarios, it can be difficult to follow the details of the Gospel. The text opens with the religious authorities plotting to arrest Jesus and put him to death and is followed by a meal in Bethany, where Jesus was anointed, the preparation for the Passover meal and the meal itself, Jesus' foretelling of Peter's denial, Jesus' prayer in the garden, Judas' denial, Jesus arrest and trial, and finally his death and burial.
