9. Do Not Track (DNT) Policy

i. Understanding DNT: "Do Not Track" (DNT) is a privacy preference that users can set in their web browsers to inform websites they visit that they do not want to be tracked across different websites and online services. The DNT signal is a way for users to express their desire for privacy regarding personalized advertising, analytics, and other forms of content tracking.

ii. Our Response to DNT Signals: Our Website does not currently recognize DNT signal preferences of our users. However, we want to be transparent in communicating that, and as of the current policy date, we do not alter our website's data collection and use practices when we see a DNT signal from a visitor's browser. The primary reason for this is due to the lack of an industry-standard interpretation of how to respond to DNT signals. Consequently, we continue to engage in activities that are consistent with our Privacy Policy.

iii. Third-Party Tracking: Please be aware that some third-party services used on our Website, such as analytics or advertising services, may also collect information about your online activities over time and across different websites when a DNT browser mechanism is in place. Our policy does not cover the collection of information by these third-party services, and we encourage you to review the privacy policies of these third-party services to understand their practices.

iv. Updates to Our DNT Policy: We may update our DNT policy in the future to reflect changes in our practices or for other operational, legal, or regulatory reasons. We encourage you to review our Privacy Policy periodically for the latest information on our privacy practices. Any updates become effective immediately upon posting to our website.
