

PERMANENT JEWELRY CARE

instructions

you can clean your welded jewelry and charms with warm water; a gentle tooth brush and dish soap. jewelry polishing cloths also work great to get them polished up and back to their super shiny selves! keep jewelry clean from perfumes; make-up; hairspray; lotion & other chemical products.

silver is prone to oxidation in certain conditions. the most common being chemicals (hot tub chemicals; cleaning chemicals; job related chemicals); natural hot springs; humidity and even your ph levels. if your welded jewelry happens to run into this issue; silver cleaner or silver cleaning wipes will work best permanent jewelry is there to be able to enjoy your life and activities with. chains are still dainty and fragile; please keep in mind to avoid having your piece break.

About Your Jewelry.

14k solid gold: 14 karat refers to the metal mix that is 58.3% gold; compared with 18 karat; which is 75% gold. it is an alloy composition made of gold and durable metals like zinc; silver & copper. this sturdy blend is completely resistant to corrosion; rust and tarnish. 14k gold is used for engagement rings; eternity bands; pendants; earrings; and other fine jewelry pieces. with 14k gold; the metal is beautiful and durable for everyday wear.

gold filled: unlike solid gold jewelry; gold-filled jewelry is composed of a solid layer of gold bonded to a base of another metal; such as brass. gold-filled jewelry is waterproof and doesn't oxidize or corrode. while gold-filled jewelry is typically less expensive than solid gold jewelry; it is more durable. with little to no care; your gold-filled jewelry will last years.

sterling silver: sterling silver jewelry is an excellent; high-quality choice. the metal will not rust or perish; if you look after your jewelry; it will keep looking great!
