

Divorce Facilitation Service

What It Is

Divorce facilitation is a neutral, supportive process where your PMLC divorce facilitator works with the divorcing couple together to support and guide their divorce process through negotiation up to the point of final hearing and order of divorce.

Why Choose a Divorce Facilitator Over an Attorney?

Attorneys serve an important role in the representation of clients during the divorce process, but when clients are generally in agreement on the terms of their separation and motivated to work together on their final details, a divorce facilitator can be a very efficient, and much more affordable option for the divorcing couple.

What is a Facilitator?

Your divorce facilitator is a licensed attorney who is also certified as a “neutral” - or mediator - with the State of South Carolina to support parties in a dispute. The facilitator does not represent one side or the other, but rather supports the couple together throughout the process of negotiating the final terms of their divorce and the filing of all required paperwork with the appropriate court so that the final divorce can be granted.

Cost

PMLC's divorce facilitation service charges a flat rate fee that is inclusive of all of the meetings, hours, and document drafting needed for the couple to get to the finish line of a full divorce. We support you 100%, and remain available to both parties throughout the entire process with a price tag that is MUCH cheaper than traditional legal services (averages 1/3 of the price!).
