Stare Decisis Law

"Courts are constituted authority and they cannot act beyond the power delegated to them. If a court acts without authority, its judgments and orders are regarded as nullities. They are not voidable, but simply void; and form no bar to a remedy sought in opposition to them, even prior to a reversal. They constitute no justification; and all persons concerned in executing such judgments, or sentences, are considered in law, as trespassers. " See Elliot v. Peirson, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828)
