

How to Bring a SeniorScapes[®] Park to Your Community

A Practical Guide for Local Champions

Creating a senior-friendly park requires municipal support, a viable site, funding, and coordination. Your role is to get the right people to the table and move the conversation forward.

Step 1: Identify the Right Decision-Maker

Start with Parks & Recreation, Planning, or local elected officials. You're looking for someone who can say, "This is worth exploring."

Step 2: Start the Conversation

Ask: "How could our community better support older adults through outdoor spaces?"

Step 3: Look for Signals

Listen for interest, possible sites, or openness to funding and partnerships. You don't need a yes. You need momentum.

Step 4: Gather the Basics

Is there a potential site? Is there community interest? Is there someone willing to keep this moving?

Step 5: Bring in the Right Expertise

Moving from idea to implementation requires structure. SeniorScapes[®] provides guidance on readiness, site strategy, concept development, and funding alignment.

A Simpler Way to Start

If this feels like a fit for your community, let's start with a focused readiness conversation to explore what's possible and what comes next.

Schedule a Conversation

Scan to book a 30-minute readiness call

Developed by

Dr. Sue M. Paul, OTR/L, MBA

Sue@SeniorScapesSolutions.com