

VISIONARY LEADERSHIP

In 1919, a group of forward-thinking executive women came together in Buffalo, New York, to use their combined expertise in service to their community. Not satisfied with the predominantly social nature of many women's organizations at the time, the women who founded Zonta envisioned a new kind of service organization – one that would promote professionalism among its executive members while serving the needs of girls and young women in the community.

One hundred years later, the legacy of Zonta's early members can be seen and felt through nearly 1,200 Zonta clubs in 63 countries across the globe. While the world has changed dramatically over the last century, more than 29,000 Zontians today remain committed to the professionalism, fellowship and service that led Zonta's visionary founders to come together.

Today, Zonta's history extends beyond the community service of each individual Zonta club. Zonta International has provided more than US$40.9 million through the Zonta International Foundation to empower women and girls and expand their access to education, health care, economic opportunities and safe living conditions.

Zonta's vision will not be achieved by monetary donations alone. At the local, national and regional levels, Zonta clubs and individual Zontians are advocating for laws and policies that ensure gender equality and help every woman and girl realize her full potential.

"We believe in making the world a better place by empowering women and we find joy by working together toward gender equity in a supportive community of like-minded professionals that even extends to other countries and cultures."

—Susanne von Bassewitz, International President 2018-2020

Zonta International is a global community of more than 29,000 women and men in nearly 1,200 Zonta clubs in 63 countries.

At the local level, Zonta clubs identify the most urgent issues affecting women and girls in their communities and develop service and advocacy projects to address these challenges. The issues and solutions vary, as each is tailored to local needs.

Read below to learn more about just a few ways Zonta clubs are making a difference.

Preventing child marriage through education in Bangladesh

The Zonta Club of Dhaka II, Bangladesh, has helped change the lives of two women after avoiding the pressures of child marriage. Mohsina Akhtar and Shoma Islam were both participants in Shathi Samaj, an education-focused service project. Mohsina was forced to get married and not allowed to continue school. With support from club members, Mohsina left her abusive marriage and is now studying finance at the University of Dhaka. Shoma was under pressure to discontinue her studies and get married. With help from club members, she is now in her fourth year at the University of Dhaka with the goal of becoming a nutritionist.

Empowering survivors of domestic violence in Austria

The Zonta Club of Feldbach, Austria, has collected and invested approximately €25,000 (approximately US$26,600) into the "Zonta Hafen" program since its launch in 2014. Zonta Hafen has provided safe hotel accommodations and a 60-square-meter flat for approximately 300 overnight stays for women and children. The women are allowed to live in the space for a maximum of three months while receiving advice from experts at Innova, a help and counseling center that partners with the Zonta Club of Feldbach.

Addressing maternal anemia and promoting safe pregnancies in Ghana

In 2012, 20 percent of Ghana's maternal deaths were attributed to anemia, a deficiency of red blood cells or hemoglobin in the blood that causes health problems and can lead to heart issues and death. That year, the Zonta clubs of Accra, Accra II, Accra Metropolitan and Tema developed a project which resulted in women receiving nutritional supplements to lower this risk and gaining access to improved care at a local clinic. Following this project's success, the clubs launched another joint project in 2017 that aims to educate women about safe and healthy deliveries. The women learn how to make birthing kits, as many of them do not have access to the necessary tools.

Partnering with domestic violence outreach centers in the USA

Women often leave abusive situations with nothing but the clothes on their backs. To them, basics like clean washcloths and other hygiene items can make a big difference. The Zonta Club of the Adirondacks, USA, raises money each year to collect essential personal hygiene items and basic baby and toddler supplies for women who are fleeing abusive situations at home. In just two years, they have donated dozens of duffel bags and tote bags full of these items, which are presented to STOP Domestic Violence, the primary outreach organization that serves women and their children in three counties in upstate New York.

ADVOCACY FOR GENDER EQUALITY

Zonta International envisions a world in which women's rights are recognized as human rights and every woman is able to achieve her full potential.

In such a world, women have access to all resources and are represented in decision making positions on an equal basis with men.

In such a world, no woman lives in fear of violence.

Realizing this vision takes persistent and coordinated advocacy actions at the international, state/provincial and local levels. Driven by our more than 29,000 members in 63 countries, Zonta International's advocacy efforts are far-reaching and effective. Zontians believe in making the world a better place by empowering women and find joy in working together toward gender equity in a supportive community of like-minded professionals that extends to other countries and cultures.

Zonta advocates to:

End violence against women and girls

Every year from 25 November through 10 December, Zonta clubs around the world participate in Zonta Says NO to Violence Against Women, our international campaign to raise awareness of and increase actions to end violence against women and girls. Through their advocacy actions as part of the campaign, Zonta clubs achieve local and national government and community commitment to take action to end violence against women and girls. Learn more at www.zontasaysno.com.

Empower women in the workplace

In addition to providing more than US$500,000 every year for educational scholarships to promote women in traditionally male-dominated fields, Zonta International supports the Women's Empowerment Principles and advocates for the adoption of these principles in the practices of our employers, and in the practices of other employers in our communities and countries. Learn more at www.zonta.org/womensempowermentprinciples.

Demand equal pay for equal work

On average, women globally make just 80 cents for every dollar earned by men. According to the Global Wage Report 2018/19 by the International Labour Organization (ILO), the global gender pay gap is approximately 20 percent. As an organization that works to improve the economic and professional status of women, Zonta International advocates for pay equity as a necessity to achieve gender equality and sustainable development globally. Find resources and materials at bit.ly/2VLrM5B.
