Does the Mega Millions and the PA Lottery allow groups to play? YES

Does the Mega Millions and the PA Lottery allow people to promote group play such as this one? YES

Below is an actual question that was submitted to the Pennsylvania Lottery on April 13, 2007. Their response is that there are NO REGULATIONS that prohibit this.

The screenshot shows the Pennsylvania Lottery website's customer support interface. At the top, there's a header with the lottery logo and tagline. Below that is a navigation bar with links like 'Customer Support Home', 'Find Answers', 'Submit a Question', 'My Profile', 'Logout', and 'Help'. A search bar is present with 'Search Text (optional)' and a 'Search' button. The main content area shows a question submitted by 'Alissa Kline' on 04/13/2007 at 07:21 PM. The question is: 'I was looking at getting a group of people together to pitch in and buy more tickets and share any winnings that we may get. Is that illegal? I know many people do it. Would we also be allowed to advertise to get people to join our group? Just wanted to make sure we were allowed to do this. Thank you!'. The response, dated 04/16/2007 at 09:18 AM, states: 'The Lottery has no regulations prohibiting group play or the promotion of group play. Thank you for your support of the Lottery and best of luck in future play.' The question status is 'Solved'.
