

WHAT IF A PANDEMIC CAUSED 30%
OF YOUR EMPLOYEES TO CALL IN SICK?

The coronavirus pandemic is naturally concerning to everyone. Virtually all medical professionals agree that maintaining good health and boosting your immune system may also help lower the risk of viral infections, and workplace stress is a leading cause for diminished health. To assist with this, LEADWELL86 has updated our award-winning engagement and health portals to now include unique content from doctors, neuroscientists, health experts, leadership coaches, and more. For example, Dr. James Robb, one of the first molecular virologists to study the coronavirus, offers an action list to help prevent infection. Dr German Fresco, a PhD neurobiologist, has created eBooks, videos, and articles to help employees stay healthy and productive. He also recommends supplements to boost immunity. Leadership coaches show how to lower stress that can impact immunity and how to optimize remote-working situations. LEADWELL86 portals are private, HIPAA-compliant, and HITRUST secure. Engaging, educational, and personalized content on these portals can help keep employees informed while providing health assessments, fitness device tracking, wellness plans, health content, stress management, personalized diet tips, leadership development, and more.

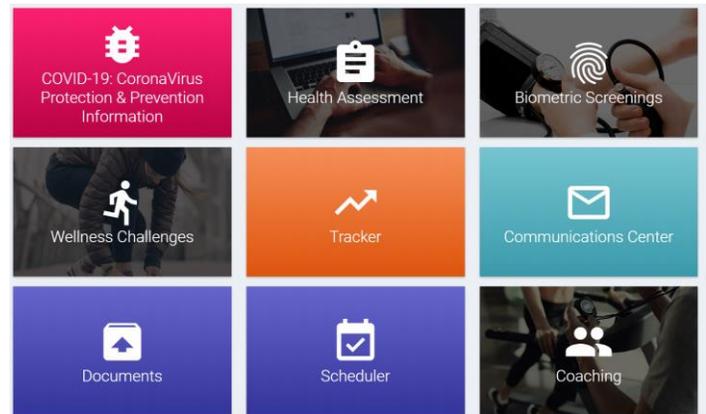

LEADWELL86™ is the only neuroscience-personalized productivity and engagement system that's affordable, effective, and proven. This patent-pending system consists of three elements:

GATEWAY86™: Employees take a 10-minute web or mobile survey and get a neuroscience-based personality profile offering insights to improve their brain, health, leadership skills, and relationships.

TEAMS86™: HR teams use this to better screen candidates based on neuroscience and not observational "guessing" to hire the right people for the right teams. Neuroscience-based evaluation and messaging guides help to evaluate and attract the best candidates.

GOALS86™: HIPAA-compliant personalized portals for 18 profile types offer content created by MDs, PhD neuroscientists, HR execs, nutritionists, leadership coaches, etc. Included are health assessments, diet & nutrition tips, leadership training, engagement surveys, fitness tracker syncing, relationship guides, and more.

Using neuroscience, LEADWELL86 helps lower stress and increase trust and health to increase engagement. CONTACT US at info@Aretanium.com to find out more.
