

Possible Headlines or Sub Headlines:

Are you smashing your mirrors?

Are you sexy in your mind, but not in your body?

Do men ask you out?

Lead:

When was the last time you felt sexy? I mean really sexy, wearing strappy sandals or high heels and showing off your legs to the men that stop and pay attention to the lovely lady strutting by them?

If it's been a month, year, YEARS?? Then it's been too long!

Hello Friend,

I'm a married woman. I've been happily married for 30 years. I'm not a young woman, and I'm not ancient, either. But, I do go out and have men stare at me all the time.

Why do they stare?

Because I am a woman that is blessed with fantastic genes!... Ah, NOOOO I'm not.

A few months ago, my daughter-in-law gave me a present. She told me not to ask her any questions, take two capsules a day and talk to her about it in a month. Okay...

I began my capsules on the 3rd of May. Within the first three days, I was jumping onto my husband's lap. I wanted to have some fun in the bedroom. This certainly made my husband sit up and take notice.

By the week's end, we'd spent two nights...

What did my daughter-in-law give me? Is it legal? I figured it must be legal. She wouldn't want me to get into trouble. She had given me the capsules in a plastic sandwich bag so that I couldn't read any labels. She laughed on the phone at me when I called her after the second week asking her what she had given me?

Three months ago, I'd taken down all of my house wall decorations that had mirrors. I thought if I didn't take them down, I would be picking up shards of glass from my smashing them in disgust of the image of myself I saw walking by them. I was 50 pounds overweight and feeling pretty dumpy and old. I had aged, and not gracefully.

My husband and I had virtually no sex life. I couldn't blame him. I wasn't feeling great about how I looked, and I had no drive even to bother. It had been a long while.

My perceptive daughter-in-law saw how “un-eventful” our lives were. She, meanwhile, was full of vim and vigor. I could tell she and my son had a vibrant life together, and I was very happy for them.

I chalked up our un-eventful sex life to age, and how busy we were in our careers.

The sad part was...

We’ve both been retired for a few years now.

At the end of the month, I received a bottle of E-Plexx, by Organixx, in my mailbox. The box it came in showed me it came from my son’s house, not the company. My daughter-in-law had a note inside. This is what she wrote...

“Dear Momma C,

I’m sending you a bottle of E-Plexx, from the company, Organixx. These are the capsules you’ve been taking for the last month. I can tell that they’ve worked for you, just like they do for me. It’s a WOW kind of thing, isn’t it? We have been trying to have a baby for a while now, but I didn’t feel right. My doctor told me I had some hormonal imbalances that may be keeping me from conceiving. He suggested some herbs and vitamins that would help lubricate me, and to bring my system back into a less stressful state.

You know my job keeps me hopping. When stress levels are elevated, it’s hard to relax and feel like doing anything other than sleeping when I had time off. This E-Plexx complex turned everything around for me.

The herbs and nutrients in E-Plexx balanced out my hormones, lowered my cortisol, my reaction to stress levels, so I was on an even keel. I was able to relax and enjoy my life again.

I can tell you have lost some weight. You look bright and shiny, and have a bounce in your step. Even your son noticed that, and until recently, didn’t see much! Just kidding.

And, I can tell Dad has a new twinkle in his eye as well. So, I’m guessing he might be feeling a little happier now, too? And, that’s great! You two need to get up and get out more often.

If you want to order more of this great supplement, E-Plexx, I’ve enclosed the order form here, but you can also order online. I get the three-bottle pack, because it saves me $45.12, a 21% savings! And, Organixx has great supplements for Dad, too. Check out their website at www.Organixx.com and look around. I know you’ll see lots of great products.

Oh, and one last thing... We’re expecting your first grandchild next January! Thought you’d like to know that! We know it’s a baby boy, so now you can start making “other plans.” Please let Dad know, too. We’re thrilled!

Love, H”