

Finding My Path

by Cynthia Saarie

It was a warm day, so a path I would find
Strange noises heard ahead, I tread lightly now
Thickets grew tight, the branches smacked my eyes blind
In the distance a barnyard complaining sow
The bushes were thinning, the sun struck my mind
With visions of grasses and scents of a cow
Stepping in wet cow pies a pasture I find
A bull now chasing, I exit with a bow

Italian Octave Strambotto poetry
Rhyming last words on the end of each line
11 syllables - 8 lines abababab

This is a different kind of poetry writing. All the examples I found were similar to the one I wrote above. They all had an idea, but the rhyming is strange. I enjoy learning new types of poetry. I started with a list of words that rhymed for the ending of each line, and a picture in front of me.

Italian Octave Strambotto is different, but if it works for you... I encourage you to share!

Some of my Daily Posts on LinkedIn and Facebook:

"You may delay, but time will not."

- Benjamin Franklin

As the old saying goes:
Don't put off till tomorrow what you can do today.
This still holds true.
If you enjoy something, and it is not hurting anyone or yourself, then do it!
Life will go on whether you are enjoying yourself or not. I would rather dance!

Time

"They always say time changes things, but you actually have to change them yourself."

- Andy Warhol

Decide to teach yourself to do something new, and then learn how to do it. Nothing is lost if it doesn't pan out, only the time it took to try. Develop your talents. Spend time on your dreams. Some people may be unhappy about your choices, but this is YOUR life, not theirs. You are the one who has to live with you!

Time

"While we are postponing, life speeds by."

- Seneca the Younger

This little boy's eyes are mesmerizing. Soon enough, he will be grown. Make sure we only give strong and healthy memories and wisdom for children to grow up to be kind and gracious adults.

Time

The 10th Amendment: Assigns all powers not delegated to the US, or Prohibited to the states, to either the states or to the people.

This Amendment speaks of the Freedom of the Press and Free Speech. One of the items in the news is the wearing of Masks. I have seen so many wearing their masks incorrectly, with their nose not tucked underneath. When a mask is worn that way, a person may as well not be wearing a mask at all. To me it spells an inconsiderate person that cares about what feels good, and not about protecting everyone, including themselves. Hey, Free Speech, right? And can someone please tell me how to keep my glasses from fogging up?

Our US Constitution

I spent a lot of time thinking and posting about TIME. Some seem to allow time to wash past them and not think about its passage. I also spent time posting about our Constitution. Many are protesting and some don't know where they stand on their rights. It's important to know the laws that govern your right to protest. If your education is lacking, you still have time to learn. Don't waste your time. Be Productive!

One of my clients asked me what is the best way to get the attention of the public that doesn't cost an arm and a leg? Especially when they're working on a tight budget? My answer is a short promotional video. More than 90% of websites and landing pages have a short promotional or introductory video. When you only have a short dab of time, you must have a catchy video posted to draw interest. As a Voiceover artist, Copywriter, and Video Script and Production creator, I can help you with a short promotional video, PowerPoint presentation, or a scripted text for your own video production. Contact me soon because the Holidays are almost upon us and my schedule fills up quickly! All first-time clients receive 50% off a 30-second video. Great for Social Media venue postings.
