A photograph of a sunset over the ocean. The sun is a bright, glowing orb in the upper left, casting a shimmering path of light across the water's surface. The sky is a gradient of warm orange and yellow. The ocean is dark with white-capped waves. In the foreground, dark, silhouetted rocks are visible along the shoreline.

A black and white photograph of a dramatic sky with large, billowing clouds over a body of water. The clouds are dense and textured, with some areas appearing very bright and others in deep shadow. The horizon line is visible near the bottom of the frame, with a dark, choppy sea in the foreground.
