BLACK HISTORY MONTH IN NORWELL: HEZEKIAH WILLIAMS AND HIS DREAM

It was not unusual in the mid-1800s for a citizen of South Scituate (now Norwell) traveling through the woods of the town to come upon a strange sight. Often that traveler (upon seeing the sight) smiled and knew that Black Bill had been there.

Who was Black Bill? His name was Hezekiah Williams, but he was affectionately called "Black Bill" by all who knew him. The town folks decided that he was most likely a runaway slave. But Hezekiah was a favorite around town and people were always glad to see him. He worked odd jobs—sometimes in the ship building trade on the North River and sometimes for the local farmers. When he had enough money for food, he was off to the woods—because just like Dr. Martin Luther King, he had a dream!

What was the sight that made people smile as they walked through the woods? It was all part of Black Bill's dream: he was building ships! At times it was hard to tell if his "ships" were chicken coops or ships, but their strange design was familiar and his woodland fleet grew steadily. Perhaps he was seeking the right design... or maybe just having the dream was enough.

Hezekiah had a great and wonderful dream: to build a flotilla of ships to sail south and carry the slaves to freedom! He worked on this dream all his life—until his death at the Almshouse in Bridgewater. But the nobility of his dream should never die; it should be remembered and honored.

Somewhere in Norwell there should be a statue or plaque that reads:

Hezekiah Williams
Dreamer, Shipbuilder, Freedom Fighter.

 STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL

NORWELL'S OWN HANDSHOUSE STUDIO TO PRESENT AT THE CUSHING CENTER

On Monday, March 31st, Handhouse Studio of Norwell will make a presentation to members of the Norwell Historical Society and any interested residents.

Handhouse is located off Meadow Farms Way in Norwell, yet it reaches audiences throughout the world with its exhibitions, lectures, films, workshops and publications.

A non-profit educational organization, Handhouse is dedicated to the perpetuation of history, science, architecture and art through the reconstruction of large historical objects. Handhouse scholars, educators, historians, architects, engineers, anthropologists, archeologists, artists, craftsman, and builders reconstruct history—often right on the grounds of their Norwell studio!

On March 31st Rick and Laura Brown, the founders of Handhouse, will describe a number of their recent projects including the Bushnell Turtle (pictured left).

David Bushnell designed the Turtle during the American Revolutionary War as the first submarine. It was hoped that the submarine operator could somehow attach a bomb to the underside of British ships and blow them up in New York Harbor.

The Turtle was reconstructed using original letters and written histories of the American Revolution period and investigating period technologies and materials that would have been used in the construction of the original Bushnell Turtle.

Please join the Browns and the Norwell Historical Society on Monday, March 31st at 7:30 p.m. at the Cushing Center for an evening of storytelling and science!

TRIVIA QUESTION:

Norwell is a heavenly place to live, but Pergatory is also here. Where, in Norwell, is Purgatory?

ANSWER: in the next issue!

Trivia Corner

Did You Know?

...the answer to the last issue's Trivia Corner Question? The question was: Whence comes the water that feeds the North River?

The answer is: From 3 brooks and over 40 ponds (according to William G. Vinal).

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED for the upcoming Historical Society Strawberry Festival on Sunday, June 22nd. As much as volunteers on the day of the Festival are needed, enthusiastic and energetic volunteers are also needed prior to the Festival to brainstorm ideas, organize events, and infuse a new spirit into the annual celebration! If you are interested in helping out, please contact Wendy Bawabe of the NHS at 781-659-1464.

Norwell was named for Henry Norwell, a wealthy Boston dry goods merchant who provided funds for the maintenance of the town roads. Other names voted on for Norwell were Deane, Hatherly, Cushing, and Standish. All of the non-selected names got 2 votes, Norwell got 215! This mock sign depicts what could have been!

HYSLOPS "RETIRE" FROM NHS LIBRARY DUTY

If you've every been to the Norwell Historical Society Library at the Middle School on a Wednesday afternoon, you've met Tom and Alice Hyslop. Every Wednesday for countless years the Hyslops have staffed the Library—cataloging information, updating records, maintaining computer files and providing answers for all Library visitors.

Last month, Tom and Alice announced that the trek from their home in Plymouth to the Norwell Middle School was becoming too much, and that their Wednesday coverage of Library hours was coming to an end.

Thankfully, many Society volunteers have stepped forward to cover the Hyslops' hours, but none of these volunteers can provide the infinite knowledge that Tom and Alice have of the history of Norwell.

Thank you Tom and Alice Hyslop for your years of dedication to the NHS Library!
